FRENCH NATION IS BACKING POINCARE IN NEWEST CRISIS

Only Discordant Note in United French Program is the Communist and They are Not Numerous—Much Depends on Outcome of Allied Ambassadors Council Meeting

PARIS, Nov. 17.—(A.P.)—Premier Poincare can count on country-wide support of the French nation should next week bring a parting of the ways between Great Britain and France. This was the almost unanimous comment in political circles this evening when the news was received that the French government, tho impatient for a decision one way or another on the questions of allied military control in Germany and the return to that country of the former crown prince, had agreed to postponement of the ambassador's council until Monday owing to the absence of the British government's instructions to the Marquis of Crewe, the British ambassador.

DISMEMBERMENT OF GERMANY IS APPARENT PLAN

Real Battles Occur Between Separatists and Peasants

DUESSELDORF, Nov. 17.—(A.P.)—The Separatists continue to detach territory in the Rhineland from the German Republic by proclamation and today they proclaimed a Rhineland republic at Schifferstadt, in the Palatinat, and took over the administration of affairs at Rickenhausen. But they are meeting with very considerable resistance. At Himerig in the district of Neuwied, a regular battle occurred yesterday between the Separatists and peasants. The peasants were armed with revolvers and hand grenades and fifteen Separatists were killed and a number injured. One peasant was killed. Fighting was resumed this morning at Honnet and eight persons were killed and more than sixty wounded.

At the request of the delegates of the allied high commission at Bonn a company of infantry was sent to Honnet to restore order and disarm the populace. A thousand Separatists were disarmed without resistance but many of the anti-Separatists fled and a detachment was sent in pursuit.

French Dragoons Out
French dragoons have surrounded the woods where the anti-Separatists took refuge and are searching for them.
The Bavarian Palatinat government, which was obliged to surrender Speyer, its capital, to the Separatists, has installed itself at Ludwigshafen.

At Cologne, systematic looting which has been going on for the past three days has extended to private houses. That the plundering is not entirely due to hunger is demonstrated by the fact that China, glass and hardware stores have been ransacked. Disciplined bands of looters under former officers have erected barricades of casks, boxes and furniture in various sections to stand off the police and enable looting to proceed. Fire brigades demolished some of the barricades.

WOULD CONSOLIDATE VET ORGANIZATIONS

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Plans for the consolidation of the work of the various war veterans' organizations of Illinois were discussed here tonight before the state post commanders of the United Spanish-American war veterans by Colonel O. C. Smith, state department commander. Colonel Oscar Carter, past commander-in-chief of the Veterans also attended.

Under Colonel Smith's plan an "inner circle," representing all veterans' organizations would be formed to supervise patriotic functions and other business which is now conducted individually by each organization.
A recruiting campaign to enlist all Spanish-American Veterans in the organization also was announced.

ESSINGTON IS CHARGED WITH FRAMING PLOT

Accused of Engineering Plan Causing Zeidler's Arrest

EDWARDSVILLE, Ill., Nov. 17.—Charges that State Senator Thurlow G. Essington, opponent of Governor Len Small for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, engineered a political plot resulting in the arrest of Gus Zeidler, Governor Small's cook and a paroled convict, in the executive mansion at Springfield, were made today in a petition for a writ of habeas corpus to free Zeidler filed here.

Senator Essington, the petition charged, came here on November 6th, four days before Zeidler's arrest on an indictment here charging assault with intent to kill in connection with a bank robbery at Madison in 1918, and conferred with political associates regarding Zeidler. The petition charged also that Zeidler is illegally held in jail and that the indictment is based on the same facts on which Zeidler was convicted in 1918 on a charge of robbery with a weapon and that he cannot be tried twice on the same facts.

Followed to House
In order to arrest Zeidler in the executive mansion the petition declared, Deputy Sheriff Walsh followed him there after seeing him on the streets in Springfield. The petition was prepared at the instance of Clarence Darrow and Patrick O'Donnell, Chicago attorneys, who volunteered to represent Zeidler without cost.

Those conferring with Senator Essington here about Zeidler's arrest were named as United States District Attorney Thomas Williamson, a federal prohibition officer by the name of Jockers, Harry Faulkner, Granite City, Ill., attorney, and William Martin, county treasurer of Madison county.

From last May until the time of his arrest Zeidler was generally known that Zeidler was on parole but no effort was made to follow him or arrest him until after Senator Essington had announced his candidacy, the petition declared.

The date of Zeidler's trial today was fixed for December 3.

RUSSIA MAY BECOME WORLD'S MAINSTAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 17. (A.P.)—Powerful Russia, once considered Europe's greatest danger, is no longer that danger and may soon become a mainstay of civilization, Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, league of nations high commissioner of relief and winner of the Nobel Peace Prize, declared tonight in a address here.

Europe's outlook is the darkest now since the war, he declared and while recognizing priority of claims for reparations by France and Belgium he declared that more important even than justice is the future of Europe.
Present conditions in the Ruhr mean war in all but name, he asserted adding that the seeds of a future war are inevitably being sown. The whole Ruhr question Dr. Nansen said, is a necessary consequence of the defective provisions in the treaty of Versailles.

SAFETY DEPOSIT BOX IS FORCIBLY OPENED

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla., Nov. 17.—Federal estate tax agents today forcibly opened the Bula M. Croker safety box in the First National Bank here. Nothing was found in it but bonds amounting to $110,000. An expert safe opener was employed to drill the box open which it was said was done, without warrant and against the protest of the custodian bank. Mrs. Croker is the widow of the former Tammany chieftain.

MURDERER IS BOUND TO THE GRAND JURY

BEMIDJI, Minn., Nov. 17.—Leonard Portano, Kellier lumberjack, who is in the county jail here, following his capture yesterday after he had killed four persons in this vicinity Thursday waived preliminary hearing here today and was bound over to a special grand jury meeting here December 11.
Portano has employed no counsel and is not expected to fight the case, according to the Sheriff Julius R. Johnson.

ATTORNEY GENERALSHIP WILL BE SOUGHT BY W. M. PROVINCE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 17.—(A.P.)—Walter M. Province, Republican, former mayor of Taylorville and representative in the general assembly for five terms, tonight announced his candidacy for attorney general, subject to the primary in April. This office is now held by Edward J. Brundage of Chicago, who has made no definite announcement of whether he will run for re-election.

Mr. Province was a candidate for attorney general once before in 1916, and received a large vote. His announcement follows:
"In response to urgent demand from all sections of the state and after a most careful consideration of the political and official situation in Illinois I have consented to become a candidate for the office of attorney general. At this time it is unnecessary for me to make any formal declaration of principles, but I wish to make it plain that I have no factional alliances, that I am independent of any groups or combinations and that my candidacy is to be judged solely upon its merits in the approaching primary. My plans for an active state wide campaign will be announced later."

Points to Record.
Mr. Province's friends point to his record in office, his advancement of legislation favorable to labor, dairying and agriculture; his independent election as mayor of Taylorville and his ability as a lawyer and his non-participation in Republican factional strife in recent years as elements of strength in his candidacy. They also say it is time the attorney general should be chosen from downstate.

Mr. Province served in the forty fourth, forty fifth, forty seventh, forty eighth and forty ninth general assemblies. When the forty ninth general assembly was engaged in a fight over the speaker's election Walter Province was the Republican caucus nominee but he refused to accept election on a bipartisan basis. It will be remembered that 17 Republican votes bolted the caucus.

Mr. Province is a former member of the Illinois bar association.

GUM MAGNATE WILL MANAGE JOHNSON'S RACE IN ILLINOIS

May Also Direct Campaign in Additional Territory

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—William Wrigley, Jr., will be in charge of the campaign of Senator Hiram Johnson for president in Illinois and probably the entire Central and Northwestern sections of the country. Senator Johnson announced today before leaving for Washington.

"Mr. Wrigley is to be the general director here," the senator said, "I understand he plans to go ahead immediately with the organization of the committee and get things in shape for our campaign in this region."

Mr. Johnson said that he would return to Chicago November 26 to address the Cook County Real Estate Board and that he intended at that time to go into the issues that will have to be fought out and discuss important questions quite fully.

"It is also probable that by that time Mr. Wrigley will have worked out his organization plans and we can then start out in good style," he added.

PRESBYTERIANS HOLD DOWN ANNUAL BUDGET

ATLANTIC CITY, Nov. 17.—The expected budget of $17,000,000 with which to carry on all work of the Presbyterian church in the United States during 1924, failed to materialize this afternoon. The general council of the assembly, following the recommendation of its finance committee fixed the budget for next year at $15,000,000, the same as that for the present year and as a result many of the church boards which had asked for substantial increases in their appropriations were greatly disappointed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—The trial of a dozen men charged with conspiracy to violate the prohibition laws in the dissolution of the Grommes and Ullrich Liquor company is to be decided on "whether this was a conspiracy to sell or whether it was a lawful dissolution in good faith." Federal Judge Evan A. Evans before whom the case is being tried declared today.

Potter Palmer, a member of one of the city's oldest and most prominent families, took the witness stand in the trial today and testified that he participated in the dissolution plan of the company where stockholders were given liquor in lieu of the stock they owned.

BULGE IN POCKET? MAKE AN ARREST!

NEW ORLEANS, La., Nov. 17.—O. D. Jackson, federal enforcement agent for Louisiana today ordered his men to arrest any person with a suspicious bulge in their pockets or who carried a suspicious package.
"Place them under arrest, take them to a police station and search them," were the instructions. "If you find liquor upon them, prefer charges of violating the prohibition law."

OPERATIONS OF BOOZE RUNNERS TO BE STOPPED

Plans Complete Except for Money and Boats Needed

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(A.P.)—The treasury has completed plans for halting rum runners under which it will request congress for appropriations aggregating about $28,500,000 with which to double the strength of the coast guard and establish a chain of boats along the eastern shore line to check the smuggling.

With the backing of President Coolidge treasury officials will declare to congress that they can effectively stop the operations of rum runners if granted the money required.

The president it was said probably will urge favorable action on the proposals in his first message to congress.

Scope of Plans
The program proposes the purchase of twenty cruising cutters at a cost of $10,850,000; 200 cruising motor boats at about $8,000,000, 100 small motor speed boats at about $1,000,000 and in addition 144 commissioned officers, 320 warrant officers and 3,071 enlisted men to the force. If the plans are granted congressional sanction, the guard will number 351 commissioned officers, 716 warrant officers and 7,122 enlisted men.

The program has been under consideration for several months during which the views of coast guard officers from all important districts on the eastern and southern seaboard have been obtained. An officials report dealing with the proposals refers to the heavy burdens imposed on the coast guard by its duties in combating rum smuggling and asserts that these burdens are steadily increasing.

It was not disclosed whether the appropriations sought would be included in the budget estimates of appropriations or would go to congress as a supplementary proposal.

The question has been up for consideration by Director Lord of the budget bureau, but his decision has been withheld.

LUDENDORFF WILL NOT BE PUNISHED FOR REVOLT ACTS

Bavarian Officers Association Comes to His Rescue

MUNICH, Bavaria, Nov. 17.—(A.P.)—The Bavarian administration will not press proceedings against General Ludendorff for his part in last week's revolt.
The general's "honorable conduct as a retired officer" in the affair has been investigated by the Bavarian branch of the German officers' association and his behavior is said to have been found spotless.

The association declares he was deceived by Adolf Hitler, the Fascist leader whom he had repeatedly warned against any act hostile to the state or central government. Some of the eighty persons arrested after the revolt was put down have been released but among those held are former police president, Von Posner and Dr. Christian Roth, former minister of justice.

The general committee of Catholic laymen in Munich has issued a declaration repudiating reports that the clergy or Cardinal Faulstich was in any way concerned with recent events.

COLLEGIATE S. A. R. FORMED AT URBANA

URBANA, Ill., Nov. 17.—National and state officials of the Sons of the American Revolution formally installed at the University of Illinois here tonight the first collegiate chapter of the society in America.

James Edgar Brown of Chicago, national chancellor-general and president of the Illinois state society presented the charter and conducted the installation ceremonies.
Louis L. Bowman, national vice-president and state secretary and Major William G. Adkins, state vice-president both of Chicago gave addresses.

Misses Letha Helliwell and Catherine Stevens of Mound Road were shoppers in the city Saturday.

GOVERNOR OF OKLA SPRINGS SURPRISE DURING HIS TRIAL

Declares Can No Longer Bear Humiliation of Unfair Proceedings and Together with Counsel Walks from Court Room—Action Creates Almost Unprecedented Scene

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Nov. 17.—(A.P.)—The impeachment trial of Governor J. C. Walton unexpectedly was speeded toward an early conclusion today when the executive, dropping a bombshell into the senate court, announced that he could "no longer bear up under the humiliation" of an "unfair trial" and walked with his counsel from the court room.

The executive's departure came a few hours before the time set for the prosecution to rest and on the eve of his expected presentation of evidence in defense of charges of moral turpitude, neglect of duty, corruption in office and incompetency.

The governor's unexpected leave taking precipitated a scene unprecedented since the trial opened. Finishing a short statement in which he announced his intention, the executive turned and with his wife on his arm walked the length of the senate chamber to the door the members of his counsel following.

Watched in Silence.
Court members, amazed at the move, watched the departure in silence while the prosecution started at the empty chairs around the defense table.

The governor's party had almost reached the door when Senator Charles E. McPherson of Durant, moved that the trial proceed.

The silence that gripped the chamber suddenly became a tumult. The cry "go ahead" went up all around.

But before the prosecution could continue its interrogation of Aldrick Blake, the governor's former confidential advisor who was on the stand, a motion was made to empower the court to appoint counsel for the executive, but was voted down after numerous senators had declared that his departure gave evidence that he did not wish representation.

Subpoenas Dismissed.
During this argument Senator Tom Anglin of Holdenville, president pro tem declared that Tom Neal, a member of the governor's counsel had asked that all defense subpoenas for witnesses be dismissed.

I. T. Sprague one of the governor's attorneys who had testified at the door declared he did not believe that Neal had made such a request. Anglin sprang from his seat and dashed madly at Sprague.

Injunction Rehearing
Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 17.—(A.P.)—Re-hearing of Governor J. C. Walton's application for a federal injunction to prevent the state legislature from proceeding with his impeachment trial was set late today by United States District Judge John H. Cotteral for next Wednesday.

MRS. SPRAGUE TO WED A PROMINENT ACTOR

QUINCY, Ill., Nov. 17.—Announcement was made here today of the coming marriage of Mrs. Addie M. Sprague, a wealthy widow of this city and prominent in Christian Science circles, to Bert Woodruff, well known movie actor, December 7, at his home in Hollywood.
The groom is a cousin of Mayor Woodruff of Peoria. Mrs. Sprague leaves here shortly for the west, accompanied by close friends.

The marriage is the culmination of a childhood romance. Both attended the same school in Springfield, Ill., and became closely attached to each other. Later their paths parted and after years they met and the old tie was renewed. A few months ago Mr. Woodruff visited Quincy and was frequently seen in Mrs. Sprague's company. When he left he carried Mrs. Sprague's promise to marry with him.

WOUNDS AN OFFICER AND THEN SUICIDES

DANVILLE, Ill., Nov. 17.—Patrolman Robert Briggs was shot twice and seriously wounded tonight by Dorsey Quick, whom he had arrested for speeding. On arriving at the police station and stepping from the car, Quick turned on the officer and fired twice, the shots taking effect in the shoulder and back. Quick then shot and killed himself.

The last grand jury returned 22 indictments against Quick for bootlegging.

PLANS TO URGE ACCEPTANCE OF LIFORD'S OFFER

Madden of Illinois Preparing Bill to be Presented

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—(A.P.)—Acceptance of Henry Ford's offer for the Muscle Shoals, Alabama water, power and fertilizer project, thru government construction of a new steam auxiliary power plant to replace the Gorgas plant disposed of recently to the Alabama Power company is provided in a bill prepared by Representative Madden, Republican, Illinois, for introduction immediately upon the assembling of the new congress.

The bill will be introduced either by Representative Madden or by Representative McKenzie, Republican, Illinois of the committee which originally brought forth the legislation which died in the last congress and will be a similar to the original legislation except for the addition of a new section designed to meet conditions resulting from the sale of the Gorgas steam power plant.

Some Modifications
Under the new section, Representative Madden would have the government, thru the war department substitute an auxiliary steam power plant capable of developing 40,000 horsepower. The bill would authorize construction of the plant directly by the government on its construction, under contract, by Henry Ford or his corporation.

A limitation on the cost of the auxiliary plant is provided under Representative Madden's draft of the new legislation. It is stipulated that the cost of the new plant should not be more than the amount received by the government—about $3,500,000—from the sale of the Gorgas plant.

CONDUCTOR ON B. & O. DROPS DEAD ON TRAIN

TAYLORVILLE, Ill., Nov. 17.—Charles Ireland, 66, of Beardstown, who has been employed by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for more than 50 years, dropped dead on a westbound passenger train, of which he was conductor, as his train was approaching Taylorville tonight.

Ireland had stopped to pick up an umbrella, dropped by a lady passenger, when his heart failed and he pitched forward in the aisle. His body was brought to a local undertaking firm and will be held for a coroner's inquest.

Judge Fitzhugh sentenced her to three months in Sangamon county jail and fined her $500 and costs.

A THOUGHT

Children's children are the crown of old men; and the glory of children are their fathers.—Prov. 17:6.

Whatever parent gives his children good instructions, and sets them at the same time a bad example, may be considered as bringing them food in one hand, and poison in the other.—Balguy.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, in a recent bulletin, brags about being more than 50 years old, but doesn't say a word about having failed, in all that time, to make any noticeable improvement in the weather.

Many people are wondering whether radio will revolutionize our means of communication. Science is rendering this new invention more and more practical. Many grain dealers are already making commercial use of it to secure their daily markets, and some have ventured the guess that it will eventually supersede the leased grain wires all over the country. The average man who thinks about the matter will probably pronounce radio communication as the greatest wonder of the twentieth century thus far produced.

The Journal's new book department is attracting considerable interest. This week the material has been contributed by John Kearns, who conducts the Morgan County Poets' department. Mr. Kearns has taken up books in poetry and religion and his conclusions and criticisms should prove of interest to persons who wish to read or study books in these classes. By a varied selection of the latest books for review, the editor of this department is endeavoring to give an appeal to readers of widely differing tastes.

EDUCATION AND CHARACTER

Interesting, if not instructive, are the statistics concerning educated criminals gathered by Prof. Murchison of Clark college. He finds that there are 7,000 college men behind prison bars in this country. The most impressive fact learned from that record is that college graduates turn criminal in just about the same proportion as their uneducated brethren.

There are certain marked differences, to be sure. Thus it is learned that the college-bred convict is nearly always a middle-aged man serving his first term. He waits longer than the uneducated man before committing a serious offense, and learns more readily from the punishment imposed on him. His crime is usually premeditated and well-planned, and it is not often a crime of violence, like murder or burglary, but is more likely to be a forgery or a swindle. The proportion of church members among these highbrow criminals is remarkably large—98 per cent.

Character is a very different thing from brains, however well instructed those brains may be. And character, after all, is the main thing.

WHEN FATHER'S OUT OF WORK

Periods of industrial depression and unemployment are too often regarded only from the standpoint of financial and business loss. There is a more important side. Grace Abbott, chief of the United States' Children's Bureau, presents that side in a report recently submitted to the Secretary of Labor. She has said: "Large groups of children suffer not temporary but permanent losses as a result of a period of industrial depression. Those who are interested in raising the standard of our citizenship thru better care of the children of the country can not regard as outside the field of their concern proposals for preventing the unemployment and, falling in a program of prevention, measures which are necessary for safeguarding the children during a period of unemployment."

In an unemployment investigation concerned chiefly with the families of self-respecting, fairly prosperous, skilled workmen, more than two-thirds of whom had been out of work for more than a year, sufficiently grave situations were found to justify her statement.

In many cases the fathers were good, steady workers, the mothers good housekeepers and homemakers. The children were in school; many families were saving money and buying small homes. That prolonged idleness of the fathers made it necessary for mothers to seek work outside the home. Unavoidable neglect of children followed. Mortgaged homes were lost, along with all the money previously put into them. Desperate economies in living were forced, including a reduction of essential food rations, such as milk, meat and fresh vegetables. In addition to material deprivation, there were discouragement, fear, anxiety and unsettled conditions which lowered family morale.

With such conditions developing in better class workingmen's families and homes, it is easy to look farther and imagine the situation attending unemployment in homes poorer to start with. When the idle period comes to an end, the train of its disastrous consequences spreads out over a considerably longer time, and sometimes wrecks the health or spirit of children, spoiling their chances of becoming good citizens.

HONEST CHARLEY

NEA
A picturesque character departed this life recently in New York City—Charley Mahoney. In his day he probably was the greatest stakeholder of election bets in our country's history. At one time Charley held as high as $700,000 in bets. And never, in his long career,

The Same Old Moon

BY BERTON BRALEY

THE moon looks down on you and me
And we look upward at the moon;
It is the same old moon we see
Beneath which lovers used to spoon,
With silly words and tender kisses,
In the days of Circe and Ulysses.

THE same old moon is looking down,
But all those lovers, where are they?
Princess and Prince, milkmaid and clown,
"The wind has blown them all away";
They lived and loved, knew woe and laughter,
Died—but more lovers followed after!

THE same moon looks down from above,
But it is up so high and far
It sees the lovers making love,
Yet can't distinguish who they are,
And thinks that still, the ages through,
The same old lovers bill and coo.

AND if the moon, by chance, could hear,
It still would hold the same opinion;
For age by age and year by year,
In all love's magical dominion,
The words and kisses are the same
As when the first pair felt the flame.

THE same old moon is in the sky,
The same thrill in each lover's breast;
Except, of course, that you and I
Are different from the rest!
Was it my fancy made me think
I saw the old moon slyly wink?

"THE GUMPS" COMING

NEXT SATURDAY
A new and up to the minute farce comedy with music entitled "The Gumps" will hold the boards at the Grand theatre Saturday, November 22.

The play is based on the ever-exaggeratingly and screamingly funny cartoons of the same name by Sidney Smith. The play is in two acts and is the work of John P. Mulgrew. The entire Gump family probably the most noted and equally popular group of characters created, will be on hand to disseminate joy to the multitude. With a real plot introducing Andy himself; his wife, Min; his rich uncle, Blm; and little Chester, to the accompaniment of jinking and infectious music, lovers of "The Gumps" and genuine entertainment should have little cause to register complaint.

SMALL OFFERS CUP AT LOCAL POULTRY SHOW

Gov. Will Give Trophy for Best Display of Fowls Bred in Illinois—State Hospital to Have Big Display at December Exhibit Here.

James C. Weber secretary of the local poultry association has received word from Governor Small that he will give the exhibitor with the largest and best display of Illinois bred birds a handsome silver trophy cup. This cup is said to be a beauty and as soon as the same is received from the engraver it will be placed on display in a prominent show window so all the local fanciers may see it and then prepare to win it.

The Governor's Trophy Cup will be a great drawing card but Secretary Weber advises that he has a great lot of premiums and will make the Morgan County show rank with the best in the state as far as premiums are concerned. The exhibit, December 18th to 23rd promises to be one of the best held in years. As much interest is being taken by outside exhibitors. Requests for premium lists are coming from all parts of the state. These lists will be ready for mailing in about ten days.

The old reliable D. T. Heinlich will judge the exhibit, it has been two years since Mr. Heinlich judged the local show and it was by chance that he was secured for this as his season was booked solid with the exception of the above date.

It is expected that all classes will be filled in the popular breeds which are Rocks, Reds, Wyandottes, Leghorns and Orpingtons. No Rabbits or pet stock will be accepted as this is strictly a poultry show. Entries will be received for Turkeys, Geese and Ducks. These have been barred for the past 2 years, but with the new cooping now owned by the association these can be properly cooped.

Dr. E. L. Hill of the State Hospital has promised to make a big entry of the hospital poultry. The hospital has enough high class poultry to fill a show room and their display will be a treat to those interested in better poultry. The hospital has nothing to sell and will not compete against fanciers for special prizes. J. C. and A. P. Weber who control some of the best standard bred flocks in this section, will have a nice display at the show but will not compete for prizes.

As it stands at this time it looks as if the lovers of standard bred poultry are going to have one big week and will see some of the best birds ever placed upon exhibition.

TRIP OF FORBES AND FRIENDS TO COAST IS AIRED

Veterans Bureau Management Hearing Proceeds Slowly

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Elias H. Mortimer, star witness against Charles R. Forbes, took the stand again tonight before the senate veterans' committee to renew his charges and to present new ones.

Chairman Reed announced that James S. Easby-Smith, counsel for Forbes, will not be permitted to cross-examine Mortimer, but, as has been the custom, the chairman will put to the witness questions prepared by Easby-Smith.

Examined by John F. O'Ryan, general counsel for the committee, Mortimer said he had been able to locate since he last appeared on the stand a number of letters and telegrams relating to charges in his previous testimony. The investigation was steered back today into charged channels. Announcing that the committee of inquiry was "very much disturbed" by irrelevant and scandalous testimony offered yesterday during the defense of Charles R. Forbes, Chairman Reed said the committee would receive no more evidence of that character.

Six Witnesses Heard

Six witnesses were heard during the day as the defense of the former director was pressed.

Testimony ran the "circle" from the manner of handling veteran hospital contracts to the famous Pacific Coast trip in the summer of 1922 and the much discussed Perryville, Maryland, sale of supplies. After two army officers and one navy officer had confirmed Forbes' testimony that he had turned over to the army and navy the handling of hospital construction, M. L. Sweet, former secretary to the former director and the present director, Frank T. Hines, took the witness stand.

"I never saw any carousing on the Pacific Coast trip," Sweet said. "Only on one occasion did I see any member of the party drunk and that was Mr. Mortimer at Stockton, Calif."

Sweet said he was not constantly with the party, but that he had not seen Forbes drunk during the trip or at any other time.

Dr. W. H. Schott who has been a practicing physician at Alexander for the past few years expects to leave for Edinburgh, Ill., where he will make his home.

Visitors in the city from the Sinclair neighborhood Saturday included Miss Pauline Trotter, Mrs. Charles Curtis, Chester Wilson and Clark Swain.

CRAZE FOR FOOTBALL SWEEPING GERMANY

Heidelberg, Germany—(A P)—Many buildings in Germany which prior to 1914 were used for making implements of war, ammunition or devoted to turning out supplies for the army, are now manufacturing sporting articles for the various games which are more popular today than at any other time in Germany's history. The craze for outdoor sports has reached proportions never dreamed of in pre-war days.

Football, formerly considered by Germans as being too rough, has become one of the most popular games among school boys and college men. Every small town now has its athletic union, including a football team and meets are held regularly all summer and most of the winter. The passion for outdoor sports has even invaded the country districts, and the youngsters of the peasant village much prefer hand ball or foot racing to helping their parents in the fields.

The sport rage is attributed to the campaign launched in 1919 for the amusement of the thousands of young men who in former times spent years in Germany's big army. Today the newspapers devote pages and sections exclusively for sports, and there are many sporting journals in Berlin and other cities. Tennis is played extensively, but football has made such rapid strides that even the experts cannot account for its growing popularity, and the factories are working overtime endeavoring to supply the unprecedented demand for "pigskins."

Guck was the first composer to exclude the harpsichord from the orchestra.

MISS MACKNESS IS A NOVEMBER BRIDE

Popular Young Woman Weds R. S. Jannopoulos, St. Louis Business Man—Ceremony at Trinity Church

In a very impressive wedding ceremonial Miss Carrie A. Mackness Saturday morning became the bride of Mr. Richard Stockton Jannopoulos of St. Louis. The ceremony took place at Trinity Episcopal church at 10:30 o'clock with Rev. J. F. Langton, rector of the church officiating.

A large company of friends occupied the church pews. Before the ceremony, a musical program was rendered with Miss Alice Mathis at the organ. "Orange Blossoms" by MacMaster was the first number. Miss Lucille Mackness, sister of the bride, sang a group of songs, "At Dawning" by Cadman and "Until" by Sanderson. As the wedding music from Lohengrin sounded the wedding party entered. Miss Alma Mackness, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and preceded the bride with her father, Mr. Charles T. Mackness.

The bridal party was met at the altar steps by Rev. J. F. Langton, the groom and his best man, Mr. A. J. Jannopoulos of St. Louis.

The Episcopal service is always impressive and it seemed especially so at this wedding as Rev. Mr. Langton read it and the vows were spoken. During the ceremony Miss Mathis played softly, "O Perfect Love."

With the final words and the benediction given, the wedding party left the church with the Mendelssohn march as the receding music. The simple floral decorations added to the stately beauty of the church interior.

The bride's gown was of brown chiffon velvet with rich embroidery in a lighter tone. She wore a hat of brown lace embroidered in gold, and carried a shower bouquet of orchids, Ophelia roses and violets.

The bridesmaid wore a gown of brown chiffon velvet with fitch fur trimming and her hat was of gold lace and maline. She carried a bouquet of Ward roses and bronze button chrysanthemums. Miss Lucille Mackness's gown was also of brown chiffon velvet.

In every way the wedding had its appeal to the artistic sense and was handsome in its simplicity.

Following the ceremony a five course wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Mackness, 1303 West College avenue, with the Colonial Inn catering. The house was handsomely decorated in yellow and white and the color scheme was also carried out in the refreshments. Yellow and white chrysanthemums and amilax were used in the dining room and in the various other rooms.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Mackness and has been accounted one of the most popular of the young society people. After finishing the course at the Jacksonville High school she graduated from Illinois Conservatory of Music and has special talent with the violin. An unusual buoyancy of spirit and an unfailing friendliness has made this November bride a favorite with young people and others of older years.

Mr. Jannopoulos is a son of Mr. J. Jannopoulos, well known in the business circles of St. Louis. In the World war he was a first lieutenant and served for two years overseas. After leaving the service Mr. Jannopoulos entered the real estate business, in which he is now successfully engaged. He is a young man of fine type and among his intimates his name is a synonym for integrity.

After a brief wedding trip thru the western states the bride and groom will be at home at 6940 Pershing avenue, University City, St. Louis.

The newly organized Men's church club will hold its second meeting Monday evening at 6:15 at Grace M. E. church. The club now has a membership of about 150 men and many prospective members are expected to attend on Monday evening.

The main speaker of the evening will be "Railroad Jim" Smith, a prominent missionary of the Presbyterian church who was converted in Jacksonville many years ago. Rev. Smith is a very fluent speaker and brings a real message to Christian men.

The supper will be served promptly at 6:15 by the ladies of the Grace church. At the close of the meeting at Grace church at 7:30 the men will be invited to attend the Revival at the Christian church, where a special mens service will be conducted in honor of the Men's club.

Dr. H. H. Peters will give a message to the men, then a revival sermon and Professor Hackleman will sing illustrated songs. Dr. M. L. Pontius and the Executive Committee of the Men's Club have cooperated in making plans for the evening that will doubtless advance the cause of Christ both thru the Men's Club and the Revival Service.

CONCERNING PROFESSOR JAMES B. SMITH

Due notice has been made by the press of the Rev. James B. Smith, railroad and Indian evangelist, who speaks here today. Mention has been made of his mother, Mrs. Harriet Murdoch Smith, but Mr. Smith also had a father who was well known here about the 80's and who was connected with the Journal in C. M. Eames' ownership, when the office was in the Mathers building on East State.

Prof. Smith was an instructor in the Natural Sciences at the Female college in 1878, later being employed by the Journal, and was made principal of the Third Ward school in 1879. He had been highly educated in the east and he and his wife had conducted schools in Alabama and Mississippi before the Civil War. In fact Mr. Smith was arrested and imprisoned by the Confederates for his Union loyalty. He had three hundred students in one of the institutions. Prof. Smith was also prominent in the fraternal orders and wore the high hat of the Knight Templars.

Prof. and Mrs. Smith passed on thirty or forty years ago.

The deceased is survived by three sons, and one daughter, Henry Goss of St. Genevieve; David Goss of West Lake Charles, La.; N. J. Goss of this city, and Mrs. H. C. Reese of Dallas, Tex. Mr. Goss will leave this morning for St. Genevieve to attend the funeral.

WILL BE TRIED FOR DOUBLE SLAYING

W. C. Cochran Who Killed Two at Belleville May be Insane — Dr. F. P. Norbury to Testify for Defense.

Dr. F. P. Norbury of the Norbury Sanitarium will be in Belleville Tuesday to give expert testimony in the trial of Walter C. Cochran, at Belleville, slayer of his wife and mother-in-law. The double crime was committed a number of weeks ago and afterward Dr. Norbury visited the accused man in jail and spent some time in making tests as to his mentality.

The defense in this case will be insanity. In a recent interview published in the Belleville News Democrat, Dr. Norbury expressed the opinion that Cochran is unquestionably insane and so not responsible for his acts.

Discussing this subject Dr. Norbury said:

Who is Insane?
"The eternal and important question of 'Who is insane?' will be raised at the Cochran trial and much of the time consumed by the circuit court in this cause will be devoted to a consideration of this intricate problem which, after much profound study and careful research work, has never been satisfactorily solved.
"In psychiatry the human race is broadly divided into three classes: the sane, the insane and the border-landers or border-liners. This middle class, which is quite large, furnishes the list for disagreement and debate.
"If Cochran is not insane; there is no excuse and no extenuation for his conduct on September 10, and the extreme penalty of the law will be and should be meted out to him as his just desert."

"I know that the unfortunate man is insane and that his affliction comes under the unmistakable type of paranoia. The paranoiacs are the patients who kill presidents and other prominent men on trumped up or flimsy motives, and who commit violent and apparently atrocious acts of which the members of their own families are often the victims.
"Should the insane be punished for their mistakes or their misdeeds and for acts which manifestly would be violations of law, and even heinous crimes, if they were perpetrated by persons in control of their mental faculties and in possession of sound minds?"

No Responsibility.
"The insane do not perceive or realize the difference between right and wrong; their conscience is either blurred or has degenerated into moral imbecility and mental irresponsibility. This lapse of moral consciousness is the chief characteristic of insanity and furnishes the leading line of differentiation between the sane and the insane, with the twilight one in which grope the border-landers and most of the mystery and the perplexity that baffles alienists and psychologists situated in between."

"Cochran was irresponsible and unaccountable when he killed his wife and mother, shot the two officers, and defied the nation and the state and the county and the city and the whole crowd, and held them at bay, single-handed and alone, and with one tiny, puny revolver which unequal contest and battle prolonged during the forenoon and extending into the afternoon hours of the day, alone ought to be sufficient proof that this poor wretch was hopelessly and indescribably insane on the day when he reached the climax of his deplorable and pitiful aberration."

BOOSTERS FOR I. C. INVADE BLOOMINGTON

College Students, Citizens and Band Crowd Special Train to Support Football Team—Parade Streets and Cheer on Field

About 300 Illinois college students and local citizens were on the Booster Special which made the trip to Bloomington yesterday, and loyally supported the Illinois team in its gridiron battle with Wesleyan on Wilder field. The special left here over the Alton at 8 o'clock yesterday morning. It consisted of five passenger coaches and a baggage car. This addition to the train had a smooth floor, and during the trip, the students enjoyed dancing in the baggage car, with the college band furnishing the music.

The train arrived at Bloomington about 10:30 o'clock, and the delegation marched to the business section, where it disbanded. At 12:30 the band and Jacksonville rooters reassembled in front of the Illinois hotel, and joined the Wesleyan band and students in a parade of the business section and the march to Wilder field. Good spirits between the rival colleges prevailed thruout the day. In the cheering preliminary to the game, the delegations exchanged yell leaders and gave complimentary cheers for each others. Bands from Illinois college, Illinois Wesleyan university and Bloomington High school made plenty of music during the time on the field.

Bloomington residents had decorated in green and white for the occasion and in some instances blue and white banners were conspicuously displayed. After the game, the local people spent the time until the departure of their train in looking over the town. The booster special left Bloomington at 8 o'clock last night, arriving here about 10:30.

HERE FOR WEEK END.
E. Olney Herman of Mokena, Ill., arrived in Jacksonville Saturday to spend the week end with the family of Mrs. W. S. Jones. Mrs. Herman has been spending the week in Jacksonville.

TEXTILES SLOW UP

Babson Analyzes Industry and its Securities.

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Nov. 16, 1923.—The recent drop in certain textile securities has led many investors to believe that unseen factors were at work within the industry. Roger W. Babson's analysis summarized in a statement issued today pretty well accounts for the development.

"Conditions in both the cotton goods and worsted and woolen goods industries are irregular and unsettled," says the statistician. "The fundamental reason for this is largely the fact that prices of these goods are relatively much higher than most other kinds of articles. When business men in any line feel that the price structure is beginning to get top-heavy, there is likely to be considerable caution exercised regarding the purchase of raw materials, the manufacture of these high-priced materials into finished goods and the buying of goods for retail distribution. This is the case now in both cotton goods and woolen and worsted goods, especially men's wear lines. Curtailment of production is in progress.

"The cotton goods industry began the fall with a fairly good supply of orders taken during the late summer. Production was good during September, especially among Southern mills. During October, however, a tendency to increase the price of cotton goods in line with the advancing price of raw cotton brought about renewed resistance on the part of buyers. As a result, many mills in both the North and South are going on part time.

"Whether or not the recent government report, wherein this year's cotton crop is estimated about 10,250,000 bales as compared with an average of 9,300,000 during the previous three years, and of 12,300,000 during the three years previous thereto, will result in freer buying of cotton goods, time alone will show. There is much evidence presented to show that both the American and the world's supply of cotton is very low compared to the need for cotton goods. Buyers, however, argue that conditions are no worse than a year ago, that consumption is declining, and that 30 cent cotton fully discounts all the bearish factors. Nevertheless, sellers of cotton insist that there can be no question of a shortage and that demand far exceeds supply and that the only reasonable

FUNERAL OF WHITE HALL RESIDENT TODAY

Remains of Mrs. Mary H. Gibler to Be Laid to Rest This Morning—Other White Hall News

White Hall, Nov. 17.—Mrs. Mary Hill Gibler, who attained the age of 93 years and three months, and who resided in Pike and Greene counties for 70 years, the oldest resident of this community, died Thursday morning at 3 o'clock. She had been bed-ridden for four years. Funeral services will be held in the home at 11 o'clock Sunday, and the burial will be in North cemetery, four miles southwest of White Hall.

She was a native of Lynchburg, Ohio, born August 16, 1830. Mr. Gibler died 39 years ago, since which time she has resided with her son, John W. Gibler, and two daughters, Viola D. and Martha E., three and one-half miles northwest of White Hall, where her death occurred. Three other surviving children are Mrs. Don Farrington of Winchester, Joseph C. Gibler and Mrs. Alex Harrington, of White Hall. She was the mother of ten children.

Mrs. Gibler never offered any recipe for longevity. There were two brothers in her parents' family, both of whom died comparatively young. She was of frail constitution, but very active, be-

Good Securities in Increasing Demand

There has been an increasing demand for good paying securities ever since the war and the country today is seeing one of the greatest investment eras in its history, according to E. Paul Young, head of the Investment Department of Illinois Power and Light Corporation at Chicago.

In a recent interview Mr. Young said:

"Prior to the great World war when an ordinary individual accumulated a little extra money he was likely to do one of three things with it—put it in real estate, a bank savings account, or under a brick in the cellar."

"The people who bought securities were wealthy and few. In fact, outside of the large cities they could be numbered on the fingers of one hand in most communities. They were chiefly bankers, or a small group of persons schooled in finances and were regarded by their fellow citizens as members of the capitalistic class."

"Today, there are millions of these 'capitalists' in the United States, people in the rank and file who own securities, or who are buying them on the partial payment plan. They think no more of buying a bond, or a stock certificate these days than purchasing a piece of household furniture."

"Before the war the average sale of securities by the bond houses, banks, or other agencies selling them, was around $10,000. That meant that only the wealthy people were buying them."

"Today the sales average from $100 to $3,000 with the volume of sales increased many hundred fold over what they were before the war."

"In the public utility field alone more than 2,000,000 people in all walks of life hold stock of the companies operating the utilities."

"The education of the general public in buying securities began with the great Liberty Loan drives staged by the government during the war to finance Uncle Sam's part in the world conflict."

"Persons who had never seen a bond saw one for the first time in the Liberty Loan drives. They learned how to invest their savings in them, or they bought to help their country. They knew their money was secure because the United States government was behind it. They saw too, how easy the bond could be handled and used as money."

The Liberty Loan drives were followed by campaigns waged by public utility companies selling stock to employees and customers. Next came the great manufacturing concerns offering their stock to their employees. Millions of dollars worth of the securities were snapped up. The investors knew the companies behind the securities were good paying concerns and they felt as safe as they did while holding liberty bonds.

"All classes of humanity have been purchasing securities so that at the present time a bond, or a certificate for some good stock is much more common in the home of the average American than a deed or mortgage was a few years back."

SAYS NATIONAL GUARD DESERVES PREFERENCE

President of Springfield Chamber of Commerce Asks Co-operation of Business Men to Facilitate Enrollment.

SPRINGFIELD. — (By the A. P.)—Co-operation of employers to facilitate enrollment in the Illinois National Guard has been asked by President Will Taylor, of the Springfield Chamber of Commerce.

"Because of its recognized necessity," Mr. Taylor said in his appeal to business men, "the National Guard should have encouragement in every possible way. The recent disturbance at Hillsboro was an evidence of the usefulness of the guard and our local organization rendered real service in that emergency."

"This is an opportune time to build up units of the guard to maximum strength and highest efficiency."

Business men are asked to subscribe to the following provisions in pledging their co-operation:

"National guardsmen in our employ will be given fifteen days leave of absence each year for the purpose of attending camp; this leave not to affect in any way the regular vacation privileges."

"When at the annual encampment or when called into active service by the governor of the state, we will pay national guardsmen in our employ for a period of not to exceed 30 days, the difference between their regular wages and what they receive in national guard pay."

"The fact that a man is a national guardsman shall entitle him to preference—other things being equal—in securing employment, or, in case of reduction of force, in retaining employment."

"Men enlisting in the national guard are to receive the above benefits only in case they regularly attend weekly drills and company commanders are requested to advise us in case any man in our employ is delinquent in attendance."

THE REFEREE
By Albert Apple

Hohenzollern

The Hohenzollerns and their crew wouldn't be making the world lose sleep now if the Allies had insisted on their surrender and imprisonment or execution. The allies had that chance, when the war ended.

Why did they let the German ringleaders slip thru their fingers? Were they afraid of establishing a precedent?

Gats

A couple of boy bandits shoot a policeman in an eastern city. A wise judge comments: "There should be a law making the person who sells a gun to a minor, thru the mails, responsible for any damage done. All these boy robbers got their guns thru the mails."

Why limit the sale only as regards pistols? Youth then would do its pistol ordering thru older crooks. The real solution is to stop the sale of revolvers altogether. It would be effective if the penalty for possessing a pistol were stiff enough—say, 20 years, with no much-heated parole board to interfere.

Julied

Seven thousand college graduates are behind the bars in various institutions in America. This is learned by an investigator for Johns Hopkins University.

Before we allow ourselves to become amazed, we want a report on the many times greater number of college graduates who are not behind the bars. It's like the case of the college man who, winding up digging ditch, attracts more attention than 1,000 who don't. Too many general opinions are based on minority evidence.

Dangers

Thirty-nine people in a year slip on soap in the bathtub and are injured enough to collect insurance damages. This is the record for just one company, which also pays damages to 506 injured in a year by tripping over rugs and 369 who fell down stairs. Sixteen golfers collected damages for being hit by golf balls and nine others for falling into bunkers. Five dancers had valid claims from colliding with other dancers.

To be really safe, take to an airplane.

One

The world becomes "smaller," countries more and more interdependent in economics—business relations. Frontiers are losing their significance except as political fences.

For instance, an International housing conference will be held in our country in 1924. Delegates will tour leading cities. It develops that we're no longer isolated even in the matter of housing. The Japanese quake proved that, the way it influenced activities and prices of our building trades.

Attackers

Eighty-six out of 100 human deaths are caused by germs and the like so small that six of them are no larger than a period, says famous Dr. Charles H. Mayo.

He holds forth high hopes that eventually we'll conquer these microscopic destroyers.

In that event, nature will attack us in other ways. He knew what he was talking about—the man who said we're sure of nothing except death and taxes.

WARTIME CAMPS USED FOR PEACE PURPOSES

Large Money Loss in Cantonments Abandoned and Reduced in Size—Others to Be Dismantled

CHICAGO. (A. P.)—A diversified story of the peace time fortunes of from 20 to 30 major army training camps in 11 central states, revealing the wholesale collapse of these centers which a few years back teemed with the activity of hundreds of thousands of men—a story not without its humor and pathos—is shown in reports from headquarters of various army corps areas of the mid-west.

While no fewer than eight of these vast war schools have been permitted to lapse wholly from the party they were built to play, others have fallen back merely to their former status as army posts or national guard cantonments and a third, somewhat smaller group, indicates by its present activities that military affairs have not and are not intended to slip back to the level of pre-war days.

Of the 16 camps in Texas, only seven have been definitely closed. Tallaferro Field has become a vast farm and tenants reap the benefits of water, light, sewer and road systems built by soldiers. Camp Bowie, at Fort Worth, has been given over to homeseekers, and at Camp Logan, near Houston, $21,417 was realized for material and equipment which originally cost $1,000,000.

Camp Grant near Rockford, Ill., built in 1917 to accommodate 45,000 men, has been wholly abandoned, with the exception of a small portion now being used to train Illinois guardsmen. The Great Lakes training station, at Great Lakes, Ill., is today headquarters of the Ninth Naval District and counts 850 officers and 7,500 men. During the war hundreds of thousands of men were located there. Many of the war time buildings have been razed, and others are standing idle. Chautau Field, near Rantoul, is continuing its activity as an air mechanics' school for the entire country, and Scott Field, near Belleville, is being used today as a balloon school.

Camp Custer, near Battle Creek, Mich., now exists only as a summer tent camp for national guardsmen, while other war camps in Michigan continue to operate under reduced conditions.

Camp Zachary Taylor, Louisville, Ky., which cost $3,575,000, is now being used as a suburban village, and Camp Knox is serving as an artillery range. Camp Sherman, at Chillicothe, Ohio, is today the site of a veterans' vocational school.

Retention of water filtration, sewage disposal and electric substation buildings for use in the event of another mobilization are envisaged in present plans which contemplate the dismantling of all other equipment of Camp Funston, Kan. Of the total original cost of this camp, estimated at $15,000,000, auction sales of materials during the last two years netted about $750,000.

RED CROSS ROLL CALL

"Period of War"

When Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, Director of the U. S. Veterans Bureau, said at the recent convention of the American Red Cross that "we are still in the period of the war," he evidently was speaking with the facts of his Bureau's statistics for a background. In a Veterans Bureau statement just published covering the period from March 1 to Oct. 1, it is shown that during that period 34,739 former service men were admitted as patients to all hospitals, and in addition the hospitals operated dispensaries and out-patient clinics giving 44,845 treatments and 22,300 examinations. In vocational training, says the statement, 73,276 men are taking courses, 33,255 of them in schools and colleges, 35,258 are in placement training and 4,347 are in Veterans Bureau vocational schools.

These figures in themselves are probably startling to many Americans who have thought that the war problem as it has affected those shattered by their war service had started on the road to solution. The fact is that five years after the end of the war, the problem is increasing, and with it broadening the work of the Red Cross in the variety of its individual services extended to former service men.

The "period of the war" as indicated by the statistics will probably extend many years beyond the peak year of 1926, which some time ago was the conservative estimate of the Surgeon General, Maj. Gen. Merritt W. Ireland, U. S. A.

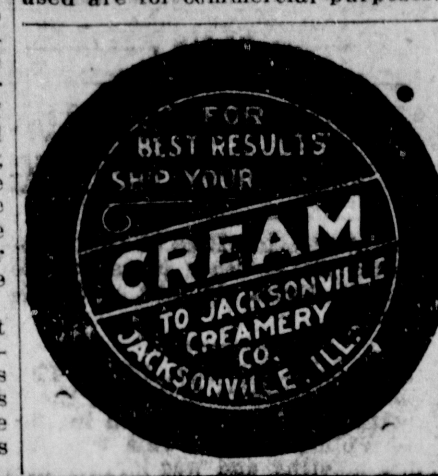

The increase in the budget of the Red Cross National organization of nearly $120,000 for this "war work" during the current fiscal year is a measure of the rising scale of work to be done. It marks the recognition of a solemn responsibility to supplement the service of the Government with Red Cross aid motivated by a policy of keeping full rehabilitation before the veteran as an objective and of doing everything humanly possible to help them return to their homes as normal members of the community. The year that is passing and the years to come hold no promise of diminution of service by the Red Cross for the former service men or their families. The records of the past are secure; the record of the future will, we feel sure, disclose that in this work the financial demands were not the personal requirements of the men and their dependents never failed of enthusiastic response from the Red Cross.

The facts above stated it seems to me are sufficient indication that we can not dismiss the obligations placed upon us by the mere statement that "The War is Over" Join the Red Cross and care for those who saved us but could not save themselves.

J. J. Kelly,
Roll Call Director.

The Registering Piano

A Heaping Measure of Pleasure---
with the Gulbransen

PICTURE a beautiful Gulbransen in your home, and you playing it!

Picture yourself playing, through the pedals with the "touch" of a musician!

Picture the keys being pressed down, as in hand playing.

Pressed down, not knocked down. There's one of the secrets of Gulbransen superiority. It removes all suggestion of the mechanical and gives you real, intimate, personally-produced music, full of genuine expression.

Because the Gulbransen is a registering Piano, registering your exact touch and expression—because it is different from any player-piano you have ever known—because it is so remarkably easy to pedal—your first delight will develop into continued, year-after-year interest.

You'll be a Gulbransen "fan"—you'll be enthusiastic, entertaining, and—mark this statement, proved by the experience of thousands of folks who have Gulbransens—you and your family will get more pleasure out of your Gulbransen than anything you now possess.

APPLES STACKED HIGH IN STREET

Six Thousand Barrels Await the Arrival of Boats to Take Them to Market.

Hamburg, Ill. — (By The Associated Press) — Crowded to capacity with barrels of apples, the little town of Hamburg, with its 350 inhabitants, is just now in the midst of its perennial glory as a port on the Mississippi river. Stacked high in its streets as many as six thousand barrels of Calhoun county apples await the boats here daily, which this year will transport to market more than half a million barrels from this apple county of no railroads.

Nearly half of the late apple production of the entire state that is sent to the markets of the country will go from Calhoun county. And as it has no other means of transportation, all of its crop for market must go down or up the Mississippi river. Calhoun county lives on its apples. Beside care of its orchards and picking its apples, the county coopers its own barrels. Last year its coopers shops made 400,000 barrels, and this year more than half a million.

About half of its product will not reach an outside market, and bushels upon bushels of apples will be wasted. There has, nevertheless, been a heavy increase in the planting of late apples, according to J. H. Allison county farm advisor, and on good crop years, the county's future production will reach close to one million barrels, after the young orchards get into bearing.

"The fact that there are no railroads in the county," Mr.

Allison said, "makes transportation and marketing the big problems of apple growers. We are sending out approximately 100,000 barrels of apples a week for a six weeks period this year. On some days as many as 6,000 barrels of apples are stacked on the streets of Hamburg, waiting for boats. Often a shipment will stand in the sun and rain for a week before loading out, and in some instances shipments have waited for thirty days before boats could be secured. Shipping facilities, however, are better this year than last."

Plans are being made by the Calhoun county farm bureau and Illinois Agricultural Association to meet these problems.

JEWETT SIX
PAIGE BUILT

$1065 f. o. b. factory

The Sturdy New Jewett Six Has the Power of $1200-$1500 Cars

THE new Jewett's 50 horse-power Paige-built motor has 249 cubic inches piston displacement. This is 20% more displacement—which means more power—than any car of Jewett's size, or within $200 of Jewett's price. And it is long-lived, smooth power. High-pressure oiling system forces 2 gallons of oil per minute through all main and connecting rod bearings. Friction is reduced to nil. Wear and noise are far distant indeed.

Try the new Jewett out against any car you choose. Jewett will accelerate from 5 to 25 miles an hour in 7 seconds, in high gear. It will beat the time of most any car up any hill. No other car holds so many hill-climbing records as the Jewett.

Do not look for the equal of Jewett power in any "light" six. Likewise, do not look for equal of Jewett ruggedness and dependability in a "light" six. A "light" six is a car weighing from 200 to 400 pounds less than Jewett, with a light, small-bore, low-power motor. A Jewett Six is a strong, heavily built rugged automobile—it is the equal in the essentials of satisfaction to cars costing as high as $1500.

Let us show you what satisfaction you get out of driving a really powerful car—when it has the weight and strength to give you comfortable riding and lasting fine performance. Call us any time for your demonstration.

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. ### SPECIAL MUSIC AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH TODAY

The message in song by Mr. Hackleman for the Sunday morning service at the Central Christian church will be "Christ is Walking Everywhere." The central thought is the fact of the presence of Jesus in the world today. He is in the store, the bank, the office, yea, in the home, the school, the church. The question is, "Do we see Him?" Mr. Hackleman's song-message at the evening service will be "Building Character for Eternity." We build character as we build a house. Every thought, word, and deed is a stone in the temple we build. Character will be tested when we stand before the Judge upon the Throne.

At the meeting of the Ministerial association, Mr. Hackleman will read a paper on "Spiritual Values in Religious Pictures" after which he will interpret a few of the world's greatest pictures.

COLLEGE OF MUSIC NOTES

Norman Campbell, pupil of Madame Colard, sang at the Open Forum meeting of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday evening, November 8.

Rehearsals for the Madrigal club, under the direction of Mrs. Forrest, were resumed on Wednesday evening at 7:30.

Miss Florence Kirby was soloist at the High school assembly on Thursday morning, when her piano numbers were most enthusiastically received by faculty and students.

Mme. Colard invited a few friends to an informal supper at her apartment in honor of Emil Telmányi after his stirring recital on Monday evening.

Madame Colard, who knew Mr. Telmányi in Copenhagen, had prepared Danish sandwiches of all kinds which were heartily enjoyed by the artist and his accompanist as well as the other guests. A most agreeable time was spent, during which Mr. Telmányi proved himself as an interesting conversationalist as he is an artist.

Mrs. Horsburgh was hostess on Thursday evening to a small group of town friends. Music and refreshments filled up an enjoyable evening.

Probably the most interesting number on the program to be given on November 26 by Miss Horsburgh and Miss Sapio will be the Cesar Franck Sonata for violin and piano, so seldom heard in this country. This work, one of the most stupendous in the chamber of music repertoire, was written for Eugene Ysaye, who used it extensively in his concert work. The two young musicians were fortunate in having the advice of Dr. Tertius Noble on the traditional interpretation of this highly intricate composition, giving his full approval of their final rendering. All lovers of the highest type of pure music will find it fully expressed in this noble work.

Mrs. Martin played a group of original compositions at the Junior High school assembly on Thursday morning.

An unusual and attractive program will be offered on December 3rd by Grace Wood Jess, former graduate of the college. Mrs. Jess is called the Romanticist of Folk Song Interpreters and is an artist of charm who has built up an enthusiastic following for her art. The proceeds of the concert will be given to the Endowment Fund of the college.

SPECIAL MUSIC AT CHRISTIAN CHURCH TODAY

The message in song by Mr. Hackleman for the Sunday morning service at the Central Christian church will be "Christ is Walking Everywhere." The central thought is the fact of the presence of Jesus in the world today. He is in the store, the bank, the office, yea, in the home, the school, the church. The question is, "Do we see Him?" Mr. Hackleman's song-message at the evening service will be "Building Character for Eternity." We build character as we build a house. Every thought, word, and deed is a stone in the temple we build. Character will be tested when we stand before the Judge upon the Throne.

At the meeting of the Ministerial association, Mr. Hackleman will read a paper on "Spiritual Values in Religious Pictures" after which he will interpret a few of the world's greatest pictures.

Books and Authors

While politics and political economy are standing stubbornly in their tracks these days, poetry and religion are making strides—strides in a circle it may be, but any sort of motion is better than stagnation. As to poetry, every man is still free to follow his own tastes, if he has any. And religion is no longer like politics—compulsory.

Yet, the freedom in the vogues of poetry and religion does not imply that there is also peace. On the contrary, there is more conflict to the square foot—yes, meterical, too—than there ever was, and the functions and limitations of both poetry and religion seem as far from determination as ever there were.

Merrily, or bitterly, the age-long tug-of-war goes on between the radicals and the conservatives, under new banners, as for instance, "magistrates" and "fundamentalists." But it is the same controversy between those who cling fondly to old forms and ways, and others who are reaching out after new, whether better or worse.

As for religion, there are some who maintain that genuine progress is being made. Whether progress or not, the so-called "infidelity" of fifty years back is now regarded as a somewhat innocuous creature, eligible to almost any of the orthodox strongholds. The new "infidel" is now compelled to seek frontiers in the domain of political economy, as the outlaw territory of religion has been organized into states.

On the other hand, for all the late revival of interest in poetry, there is little high-class poetry being produced. But the laws of economics do not seem to pertain to poetry. The demand does not encourage the supply—except the supply of imitations and adulterations. And conversely, the supply (of good poetry) does not abate the demand.

In this day and age, however, you may have what you will from the poetry market—and the religious, as well. Contemporary schools—each poet is a school to himself—are purveyors of goods of varying excellence and merit, about which the critics differ so radically as to make criticism almost a laughing-stock, and utterly confuse the reader accustomed to depending upon it.

But the poetry of today—much of it, that is—exemplifies how hard-pressed the poets are for subjects and forms, and betrays their indecision as to means and effects, and their standing after novelty at any cost. It proves that with them poetry is not a spontaneous and natural power. It really goes hard with them to produce "something different," and at the same time hold the stage before an interested and admiring audience.

If the poets now writing only spent the time on their verses that they waste in expounding their own styles and lambasting those of their fellow versifiers, our output of lyrics would show more excellence and uniformity. Would, in fact, endure as testimony of the versatility of the age—an age producing high class works in the several styles—realism, romanticism, mysticism, futurism, and all the rest. As it is, we have promising introductions to the several movements, but which will finally prevail as the mark of the period, no one may know for some years to come.

The Collected Poems of Walter De La Mare.

(Henry Holt & Co.)

Tho the collected works of this English poet have been out for some time, they seem to have attracted little attention over here, perhaps because we have so many poets of our own, or think we have, at any rate. But while there is hardly a poet in America, except the humbler ones, that writes uniformly well, it is characteristic of those across the water that after they have struck their gait, they keep it up, and rarely deviate from the path they have taken. Form and mood with them is a sort of tradition, and they hesitate to leave the key in which their first successes were pitched, for fear of losing their ease and assurance in foreign tonalities—losing themselves and perhaps the respect of their patrons, who do not generally crave to be shocked and amazed, as is the habit of American readers.

In the first place, you must be prepared for certain liberties the poet takes with form and meter. Tho he shows a liking for forms, and inventive ability, he is not always meterically consistent. The same as regards rhyme. As, for instance, in the sonnets, he takes almost no liberties except with the rhyme—tho we might forgive him any other liberty taken with this form. Liberties—particularly with a medium as rigid as the sonnet-form—must be justified by increased excellence in other particulars. But the succession of rhyming words necessary to conform to a certain standard in the octets seems to be too much for his stock of resources, and we have such flaws as "down" and "alone," "room," and "the," "was" and "alas," and the like.

Occasionally, too, the meter chokes and struggles, provoking the thought that, if the rhyme or meter gets in the way of the idea, so much the worse for them. Really, it is not conceded for a poet to regard the idea—his own idea—superior to the form? Here and there indeed, is to be found one that would read better as free verse, or as prose, tho the content is audibly poetical—that is, if by poetical, we mean "such stuff as dreams are made of."

Laudibly poetical, I repeat. If this poetry is life in any sense, it is life longing to be a dream, and often succeeding, so far as words are capable of signifying the things we call dreams. Even the songs of childhood are mystical beyond the comprehension of the average child. Nursery jingles for grown-ups, they might be labelled, but at that more wholesome than most magazine and best-seller clap-trap.

De la Mare is perhaps a mild vintage of Francis Thompson, mild as to several qualities—preciosity, religious fervor and sustained solemnity. Somber and gloomy he really is, if you stop to think about it, even in his delicious songs of childhood. But you may not stop to think about it, once you get the swing of his sprightly verses, which seem designed to neutralize the melodrama, as it were, of his mysticism. The lightest of them are often flavored with deep tragedy—not exactly burlesque, but tragedy with flavor of the mystical, perhaps hysteria—as, for instance, the tale of the sailor man that for a silver penny carried two children out to sea in a storm, and finally—

Drowned is the sailor man,
Drowned is sweet Jenny,
And drowned in the deep sea
A bright silver penny.

On coming to the poems for elders contained in the two divisions, "The Listeners," published in 1914, and "Motive," published in 1919, we find the same magic flavor imparted in a brilliant style and dancing meters. Pictures without the labels, many of them are, so that you are inclined to ask what they mean, if they mean anything at all. And is it always necessary that poetry have some "meaning"? But somehow it is not so flattering to our intellects, to be left up in air, as it were, by a poet who excludes anything in the way of a moral or worldly application of his themes—to the utter confusion of the reader accustomed to having a tangible string to his poetic kite-flyings. But no—the secret is left to the reader's imagination, even the secret of the rain-worn cherub's head of smouldering stone in a neglected graveyard, that broods,

And, all else lost and faded,
Only this listening head
Keeps with a strange unswerving smile
Its secret with the dead.

Origin and Evolution of Religion.

By E. Washburn Hopkins.

(Yale University Press.)

Most all education, the religious not excepted, is a process of taking things for granted, on the authority of parents, or teachers—and certain books. Seldom it is that both sides of any subject is presented, on the score that any suggestion of controversy is only a source of confusion to the adolescent pupil. Such a treatment may be the means of weakening his will power, or it may end in his accepting the things perhaps in a spirit of contrairiness—the very things he is being prepared to withstand. In after years then, when he begins to contemplate both sides, if he ever does, he may have a hard time to square himself with progress in the intellectual world. Or he may in some fit of impatience or disgust cast the early lessons to the four winds, and end by taking the opposite side, or becoming a radical of pronounced type.

Yes this result might have been avoided, if he had a little earlier been prepared for the conflict by a gradual enlightenment as to the things that various sincere and competent authorities represent. And in the matter of religion, if he had only become more familiar with the rate of esteem in which so-called sacred things are held by different races, in different conditions, and in different ages.

This book is a sort of attempt to correct said deficiency, and, with the exception of the introductory chapter, is well within the understanding of at least the average high school student.

In the beginning the book appears more formidable than it really is. The introductory chapter is ponderous enough reading for the most erudite, but after this chapter, which might better have followed later, the various branches of the subject are treated in a more concrete way.

The author's object, in much his own words, is to show how belief arose, by arranging in orderly progression all available data. In true scientific spirit, he begins with the lowest form of phenomena included in the category of religious experience, tho it will probably prove startling to some to learn that such matters as stones working to the surface in a plowed field should have any religious significance to even the lowest order of human beings.

As a whole, the book deals exhaustively with the phenomena of superstitions, religious forms, sacrifice, ritual, and all, peculiar to different localities and conditions of men, as embrace under the divisions of animism, totemism, and as exemplified in the worship of stones, trees, animals, up to man himself and his ancestors, and after that the heavenly bodies and "the unknown God."

The story of all this makes it reasonable that many of our superstitions, our customs, our laws, even our games, are modified or discarded relics of cults and rituals, be they held and practiced by races from whom we are descended, altered out of recognition almost by being handed down thru successive generations.

It seems that the religious experience of different races has not been identical. "No one ladder has led to the higher states of religion." The fear of divinity generally precedes the love, as malicious demons generally precede beneficent gods. It is a convincing point he makes, in saying that "environment in a great measure determines religious values—the cow is holy in India, and the Todas have a cult of the buffalo. Both animals are of prime importance as a source of food."

The chapter on "The Soul" is intensely interesting. To begin with, the idea that a human being has a soul, and other beings have none, is comparatively modern, and even now is far from universal. And he goes into an exhaustive treatise on the parts of the body in which the soul, as an extra power, is resident, from hair to toe-nails, eyes, blood, the liver, the heart, the breath, the shadow, and even the saliva, the latter universally regarded as curative and mystically powerful, as instanced in the account that God spat upon the dust, and created man.

The hair takes up the most of his attention. As a seat of one of the physical souls, believed in by savages, the cult of the hair comes into effect. The thousand-and-one primeval and medieval notions as to cutting, dressing, sacrificing the hair of the head are come out of religious feeling as to the belief in the hair as to power, physical as well as mystical, which therefore command respect, and in some instances, most impressive rites in recognition of its importance. Hair is sacrificed in mourning or joy. It is sacred in the administering of oaths, or as a mark of vitality, or distinction. You may recall the story of Samson's short locks as one of the sort. And unhappy Dido, you remember, could not die till Iris descended from heaven and clipped off one of her curls.

To give a fair resume of a book of this character and extent, in the space at our disposal, is impossible. Because there are several other chapters that invite analysis, chapters on sacrifice, and the ritual, the priest and the church, religion and mythology, religion and ethics, and the three trinities—Hindu, Buddhist and Christian. And it is hard to say which is the most interesting and suggestive, if all depending upon just what phase of the religious question is most interesting to the particular reader.

As he contends, a great part of what is called religion is strictly social. In India, the earliest law-givers proclaimed that such and such acts were sinful because they violated ancient custom.

The best to be said about the book—and the author—is that they carefully avoid anything like partiality or offense to any particular form, or faith, or observance. The most in the way of criticism is perhaps some statement of general character, the truth of which, in effect, hardly anyone would be rash enough to deny. As, for instance: "If it (religion) is still a conservative force and as such tends to retard the intellectual (and hence ethical) advance of orthodox believers, it must be remembered that religious morality is the only morality that has authority with backward minds."

But this rather negative compliment is well balanced by a summarizing admission to the effect that: "Even in the past, which must be judged as the past and not as if it were the enlightened present, religion has been of inestimable good, ethically considered; it has spiritualized humanity, furnished a broader conception of duty, helped profoundly to enlarge men's sympathies; and on the whole given an invaluable support to morality."

To Serve With Salad.

Many hostesses like to serve the salad just before the main course of meat and vegetables rather than after it.

A vegetable or fish salad is very acceptable right after the soup, but a fruit salad seems to give a better balance to the meal if it follows the main course.

In any event a salad course properly served includes a wafer or something of the sort with the salad itself. The accompaniment may be served on the plate with the salad or on a large plate, each person helping himself.

These little tidbits may be used with a fruit, vegetable or head lettuce salad which does not gain its piquancy from cheese.

Cheese Crackers.
Four tablespoons grated American full cream cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, paprika, small square crackers.

Rub cheese and butter to a smooth paste. Spread mixture on crackers, dust with paprika and toast just before serving.

If the crackers are ready on the toaster it's a simple thing to pop them in the broiler while clearing the tables and taking in the salad. This insures their hot crispness with the salad.

Cheese Cups.
Bread 24 hours old, cheese melted butter.

Cut bread in slices two inches thick. Cut in small rounds with an open top, small cutter. Hollow out a tiny cup-shaped depression in one end of each round of bread. Dip in melted butter, fill depression with grated cheese and put in a hot oven to melt the cheese and slightly brown the bread. Dust slightly with paprika before sending to the table.

Cheese cups are served on the plate with the salad and eaten with the salad fork.

Cheese Squares.
One cup of soft cheese, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons soft bread crumbs, 1 teaspoon mustard, 1/2 teaspoon vinegar, 1 tablespoon minced sweet pepper, few grains sugar, 1-8 teaspoon salt, paprika, squares of bread.

Cut bread not more than 3-8 of an inch thick. Cut off crusts and cut in 2 inch squares. Toast quickly. Mix cheese, butter bread crumbs, pepper, mustard, vinegar, sugar and salt to a smooth paste. Spread on toasted squares, dust with paprika and put in a hot oven to melt the cheese. Serve at once.

Cheese Balls.
Whites 2 eggs, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon paprika, grated cheese. Beat whites until stiff and dry. Beat in salt and paprika and add enough grated cheese to make the mixture the right consistency to form into marbles. Drop in deep hot fat and fry to a golden brown. Drain on heavy brown paper and heat in the oven to serve.

Cheese Straws.
One cup grated cheese, 1 cup bread crumbs, 2-3 cup flour, 1 tablespoon butter, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1-8 teaspoon cayenne pepper, 2 tablespoons milk, dash mustard.

Cream butter, add flour, crumbs, cheese and seasoning. Mix thoroughly. Add milk and mix well. Turn onto a floured molding board, roll one-quarter inch thick, cut in straws one-quarter inch wide and four inches long. Bake in a moderate oven for 15 minutes.

BUILDINGS SHORTEN FROM COLD WEATHER

Estimated that Huge New York Skyscrapers Lost an Inch and Half in Winter Months Caused by Steel Contraction.

NEW YORK (AP)—Towering steel structures in New York will be approximately one and a half inches shorter this winter than they were in August. The shrinkage of the skyscrapers will not be noticeable to Gothamites, nor to the residents of other cities where the change already is taking place, but to the structural and technical engineers of steel the fact will be known in figures.

A study made by the building planning service of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, covering thermal effects upon buildings, made public here, shows that the Woolworth building, the Metropolitan tower and the Equitable building, among New York's highest structures, will have been shortened from one and two-tenths to one and a half inches.

The figures were arrived at by calculating the expansion and contraction of steel according to the formula familiar in every physics laboratory. The contraction and expansion of steel for each Fahrenheit degree change in temperature is only .00000677 inches, but when this figure is multiplied by 9110 inches in the Woolworth building (not counting the basement and sub-basements) is shown that each degree change makes a difference of .061 inches in the structure. With the Metropolitan building's 8400 inches, each degree change makes a difference of .0568 inches and with the 7200 inches in the Equitable building (counting from the sub-basements to the roof) the difference for each degree of change is .0487 inches.

According to the estimate of Clarence T. Coley, operating manager of the Equitable building and former president of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, the probable limit of temperature change is about 25 degrees.

"Because of the expanding and contracting of the steel in high buildings it is important, that the mass of the building be kept as near a uniform temperature as possible, to prevent the steel from contracting and expanding within minimum limits, said Mr. Coley. 'The limits are probably 85 degrees on the hottest summer day and 68 degrees on a cold winter's day, where the building is adequately heated.'"

"Should the buildings be allowed to cool off on Sundays and holidays to a temperature of 40 or 50 degrees it can be seen that the contraction would be much more marked and the bulging off of plaster would be excessive. Generally it can be assumed that the temperature variation in the buildings is about 25 degrees.

In a building such as the Equitable which is 600 feet from the roof to the sub-basement, the expansion between 60 and 85 degrees would be 1.2 inches, which variation must be followed by the brick work, plaster, verticle piping, elevator guide rails, etc."

If the buildings should ever be allowed to cool to the freezing point the contraction of the Woolworth building would be 3.2 inches and the Equitable building would be 2.6 inches shorter than the normal height in mid-summer, the statistics reveal.

GEOLOGISTS LOCATE VALUABLE IRON ORE

Huge Beds of Magnetite Rock Found in East End of Mesabi County in Minnesota.

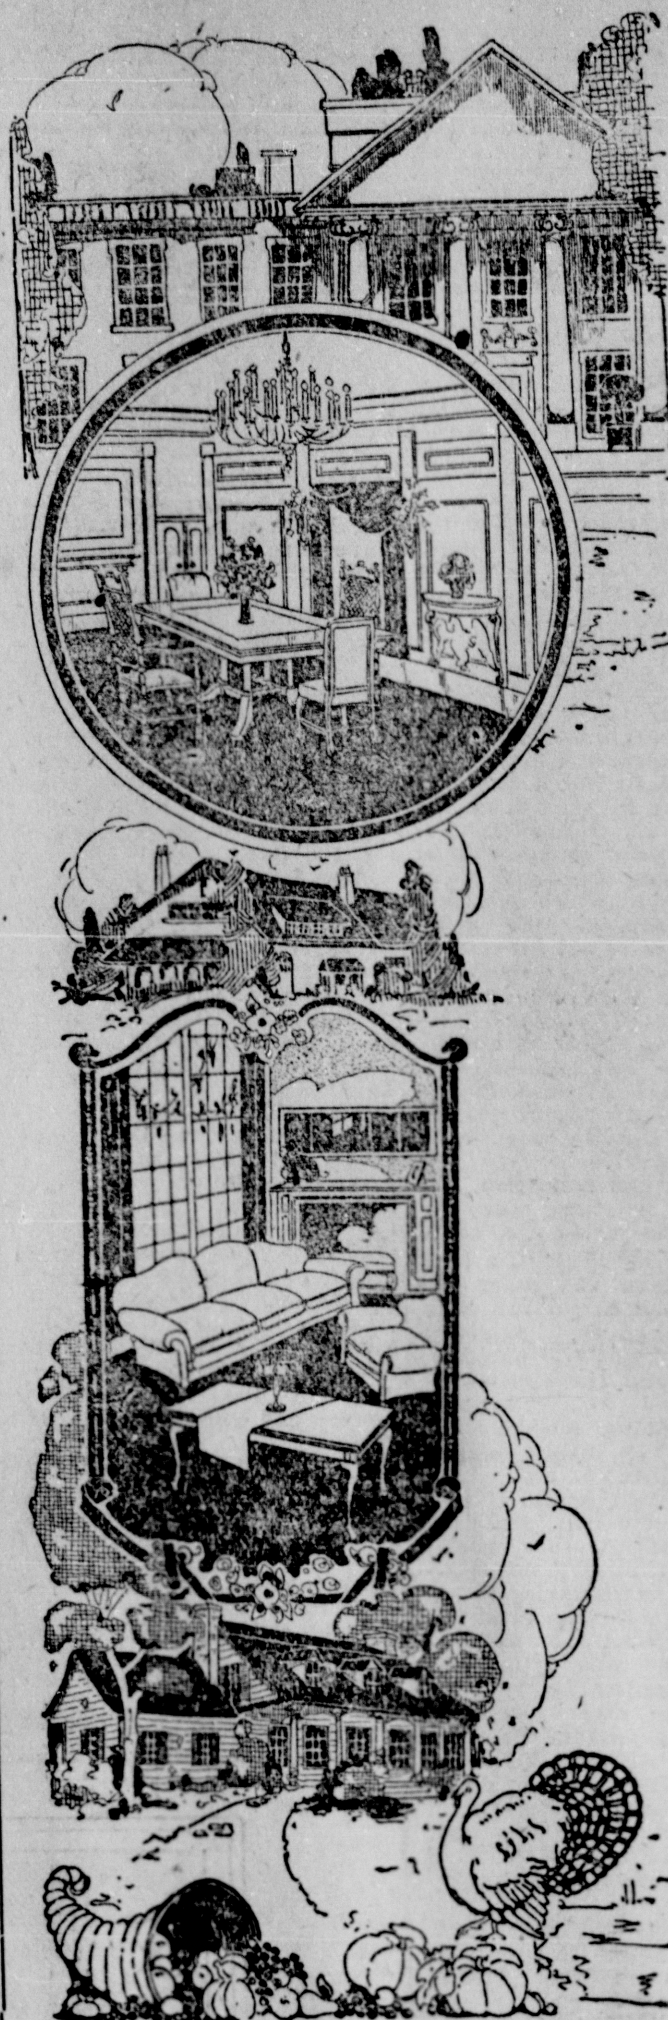

MINNEAPOLIS.—(A. P.)—Minnesota is producing a brand new iron ore, according to Prof. George M. Schwartz of the department of geology, University of Minnesota. Three hundred tons a day of the new product is going to Detroit for use in the manufacture of a widely known automobile.

Magnetite iron bearing rock has been known to exist for many years in Northern Minnesota. Dr. Schwartz explained, but it has been impossible to call it an ore because it could not be smelted by any simple process. The magnetic concentration process, introduced by an iron company on the Mesabi range in northern Minnesota, however, changes the rock into a true ore, capable of being smelted, and it is on this account that it is now considered a new ore.

This magnetic rock is found in huge beds at the east end of the Mesabi range and has limitless possibilities of development, according to geologists and miners at the Minnesota University. The concentrating machinery that is being used was invented some years ago by E. W. Davis, superintendent of the mines experiment station at the University of Minnesota.

The magnetite ore being used at present, Dr. Schwartz declared, "is found on the part of the Mesabi range which lies east of the town of Mesabi. The pit of the Mesabi Iron Company is near Sulphur Spring, a new town called Babbitt. This part of the range is usually known as the East Mesabi, and extends from the town of Mesabi, to Birch Lake, a distance of 20 miles. It was in this area that the iron formation of Minnesota was first discovered, but on account of the absence of rich ores, it received little attention until recently."

Arnold played a brilliant game for Jacksonville, while Smith at center played his best game of the season. For the High school lads, Arundel, Benson and Quincey showed well.

Jacksonville's first touchdown came early in the first period. Quincy kicked off to Jacksonville and the locals worked the ball down the field to the 40-yard line. On the second play Arnold took the ball and ran thru a broken field 40 yards for a touchdown. It was a pretty run. At the try for the point after touchdown Arnold dropped the pass but picked the ball up and ran over the line for the point. Score, Jacksonville 17; Quincy 0.

Jacksonville kicked off to Quincy, but the Gem City boys could not gain and punted. Jacksonville could not make the distance and punted to Quincy. One year often brings about a remarkable improvement in a ball player. Last season Second Baseman Ward of the New York Americans and McManus of the St. Louis Browns came fast and won a place in the ranks of stardom. In Harris of Washington McManus of St. Louis and Ward of New York, Eddie Collins has three rivals for his title of the premier second-sacker of the American league.

CHICAGO DOWNED OHIO IN ANNUAL GRIDIRON CLASH

Both Teams Resorted to Straight Football—
Score 17-3

CHICAGO, Nov. 17.—Chicago downed Ohio State here today 17 to 3 in the fourth annual gridiron clash between the two schools. Instead of employing the forward pass as had been expected, the Buckeyes resorted to straight football. Chicago played its usual game of straight football for the most part. Today's game evened the score between the two universities. Ohio State previously having won two games and Chicago one. Chicago's strength was increased greatly by Harry Thomas was declared eligible and was permitted to play.

The Buckeyes brought the first blood in the initial period when they twice carried the ball to within a few feet of Chicago's goal line and finally kicked a field goal when they were unable to score a touchdown.

Chicago scored touchdowns in the second and third periods and a field goal in the final frame. Both touchdowns were made following long runs. In the second period, John Thomas broke thru the Ohio defense for a run of 52 yards, and in the third Pyott, receiving a punt, ran 49 yards for another touchdown. Rohrke kicked both goals. In the last period Chicago, with but two minutes to play, worked the ball to Ohio's 15-yard line where Rohrke kicked a beautiful field goal.

Hoge Workman, who featured for Ohio State, made the Buckeye's lone field goal, kicking it from the 13-yard line.

Only on a few occasions did either team employ the forward pass and then with only slight success.

WABASH RAN WILD OVER INDIANA U.

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 17.—Uncovering a baffling aerial attack that resulted in four touchdowns by the forward pass route, Wabash defeated Indiana on Jordan field this afternoon 29 to 6, for the first Scarlet victory over the Crimson on the gridiron in 20 years.

Marks scored the only Indiana touchdown, crossing the Wabash goal line in the second period after a 31 yard run thru the entire Wabash team. Jack Singleton, "Little Giant" halfback, scored two touchdowns, a field goal and two points after touchdowns for a total of 17 points.

NOTRE DAME EASILY DEFEATED BUTLER

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 17.—Elmer Layden and Harry Stuhldreher led Notre Dame's backfield to a 34 to 7 victory over Butler today and thereby retained the football championship of the state. Layden scored two touchdowns after clever line piercing and receiving passes and made a 33-yard run for another touchdown which was not allowed. Stuhldreher returned a punt 65 yards for a touchdown for the second time this year. Notre Dame made 24 first downs to Butler's five. Butler's only score followed a blocked punt in the first minute of the game. Griggs and Woods figured in a pass attack which made four first downs in the last period.

Zev Won By a Nose from In Memoriam

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 17. (A. P.)—Newspaper photographs of the Zev-In Memoriam match at Churchill Downs today shows the heads of the two horses are on practically a dead line with In Memoriam having a fraction the better of it if anything. Spectators on the finish line contended that In Memoriam's nose was projected farther than Zev's at the line of finish. The newspaper photographs seem to bear out this conclusion.

The photographs besides showing In Memoriam to be a fraction of a nose in the lead 18 inches from the wire show one of his forefeet as just having hit the track and his body lunging forward from the impact of the stride, while Zev's corresponding foot is on its downward motion and cannot have given him an added impetus on the final jump before both crossed the wire.

The controversy raging over the thrilling ending of the match will not be ended by newspaper photographs as spectators, a number of them directly beneath the judges' stand and on a direct line with the finish pole were telling the world tonight that In Memoriam had won. Each person was confident that he was right because each "saw it with my own eyes."

In what probably was the closest, most thrilling finish in the history of the American turf, Zev, winner of the Kentucky Derby and conqueror of Papyrus, reversed the victory in Memoriam scored at Latonia two weeks ago by defeating him by a scant nose in a match race at one and one-quarter miles at Churchill Downs today.

The hurricane finish was so close that hardly a spectator in a crowd of 40,000 persons, with the possible exception of Harry F. Sinclair, owner of the winner, realized that Zev had won, until the official decision of the judges had been posted.

The climax of the race furnished a thrill that set the crowd wild with excitement as almost everyone thought In Memoriam had triumphed, as the two great three-year-old rivals floundered into the wire, racing neck and neck with scarcely an inch separating their noses. Trained observers with years of experience in watching close finishes shouted that In Memoriam had won, but received the shock of their lives a second later when the judges posted Zev as the winner. The finish in the opinion of turf experts was so close that the race could have been called a dead heat and not provoke argument from admirers of either horse.

It was won in 2:06 3-5, three and two-fifths seconds slower than the track record for the distance established by Wood Trap in 1921, but Wood Trap did not carry the impost of 126 pounds that both In Memoriam and Zev carried today.

Zev, as a result of his victory becomes the greatest money winning race horse in the world. Owner Sinclair took down $25,000 of today's $30,000 purse, swelling Zev's winnings to $301,073 which shoved him ahead of the winnings of the two English cracker, Isinglass with $291,150 and Donovan with $277,215.

Zev's triumph probably means that he will seek international honors as the winner of today's race had been invited to compete in a six-crown international race for a purse of one million francs to be decided at the Long Champs course near Paris next May.

Owner Sinclair said tonight that Zev undoubtedly would compete in the race abroad, if the offer still holds good after Zev's scheduled match race with My Own the latter part of this month.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 17.—Flashes of Brown stabbed a ponderous Crimson line today, a Brown backfield swept thru a yielding Crimson defense, an alert Brown line checked and broke a thrusting Crimson attack and, at the end, a band of fighting Brown warriors marched from the stadium victorious over Harvard, 20 to 7.

UNDEFEATED YALE ELEVEN TOO MUCH FOR PRINCETON

Tigers Unable to Carry the Ball Closer than 24
Yard Line

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 17. (A.P.)—The Bulldog today chewed the Tiger to tatters, taking 27 bites and escaping without a scratch.

This zoological paradox was enacted in the Yale bowl with some eighty thousand spectators massed for the fiftieth anniversary of the first football game ever played between Yale and Princeton, the longest series existing in the history of college football.

The tenacious Bulldog pursued the jungle beast up and down the field from start to finish but the Tiger did not take it tamely. Three times it turned and fought back savagely but never once was it able to carry the ball closer to the Yale goal than the 24-yard line. It was a game team but from the very first minutes of play it was evident that it also was a beaten one.

The hard hitting Yale eleven undefeated this season took the upper hand soon after the first whistle and scored on the Orange and Black in every period. Its total of 27 points was the greatest margin of victory ever obtained in its fifty year old feud with Princeton, except that wrested from the Tiger in 1890 when the Blue rolled up a tally of 32 to 0.

Three touchdowns with resultant points and two field goals gave Yale its victorious total. For 30 yards, into the grasping hands of Ecklund, just across the Iowa line.

In the first quarter after a sally down the field, a forward pass shot from the nimble fingers of Martineau hurtled thru the air for 30 yards, into the grasping hands of Ecklund, just across the Iowa line.

This touchdown was followed in the second period by one on a dash by Martineau from the Hawkeye 25 yard line, after a baffling criss-cross and delayed pass had thrown the Iowans completely off the trail. It was a similar play with Martineau finally receiving the ball that counted the Gopher third touchdown in the third period. Abramson kicked two goals after touchdown.

Iowa's touchdown came in the third period on a line plunge from Minnesota's three yard line where the ball had been carried.

Graham who had gone in for Miller took the ball over but tumbled and Iowa recovered.

Minnesota's line proved a stone wall on defense and outcharged the Iowans, frequently stopping the Hawkeyes' sprinters before they could get well underway. Fisher, Miller, Fry and Parkin were the best offensive men for Iowa.

The spectacular dashes of Martineau and Graham of Minnesota with Lidberg's consistent plunges and off-tackle runs coupled with perfect interference on many occasions, marked the Gophers as one of the most dangerous offenses in the country.

AMES WON CROSS COUNTRY RUN

LAWRENCE, Kans., Nov. 17.—Ames won the Missouri Valley conference cross-country run here today with a score of 34 points.

Minnesota's Powerful Offense Proved to be Too Much for Iowa

AD MINNESOTA

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 17.—Minnesota's flashy gridiron eleven, playing with a dash that rolled back the years for thousands of "Old Grads" participating in the homecoming day celebration, downed the hard fighting Iowa team here today 20 to 7.

It was a game replete with thrills for Gopher followers a fitting finale that marked the passing of historic Northrop Field for next season the Gophers expect to play in their new and larger stadium.

Out of the detail of play, leap the names of Captain Martineau, quarterback, Graham and the plunging Lidberg, stellar performers in a contest that set the Gopher claims to Big Ten championship considerably to the front with those of Michigan and Illinois.

It was not a slipping Iowa team that made victory possible today for the Hawkeyes made a performance as brilliant as any showing they have made this year, but they met a Gopher machine that recalled the days when the "giants of the north" piled up points.

In the first quarter after a sally down the field, a forward pass shot from the nimble fingers of Martineau hurtled thru the air for 30 yards, into the grasping hands of Ecklund, just across the Iowa line.

NEBRASKA WON FROM AMES 26-14

AMES IOWA, Nov. 17.—(A. P.)—A lead of twenty points gained by three touchdowns in the second period gave Nebraska a lead in today's Ames-Nebraska game which the Cyclones could not overcome and Nebraska won 26 to 14.

The game was all Nebraska's in the second and third quarters in which the visitors made all their points, while Ames had the upper hand during most of the first and last periods, scoring twice in the last.

The game was played before a home coming throng which crowded the field and took every available seat.

The work of the Dewitz Brothers and Lewellen on offense and the assault of the heavy middle of Nebraska's line was too much for the Cyclones altho Johnnie Behm, Roberts, Captain Young and George, a substitute half back, played brilliantly for Ames.

ILLINOIS WILLOUT GRANGE AND HALL DEFEAT DIXIE TEAM

Zupke Used Many Subs in Game Devoid of Excitement

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Nov. 17. (A. P.)—Illinois ran over Mississippi A. and M. today for a 27 to 0 victory in a game devoid of excitement. "Red" Grange, sensational halfback and H. Hall, regular quarterback, saw the game from the bench, while Willie McIlwain and Earl Britton, their backfield mates, played less than a half. Illinois used only straight football against the southerners, the only variation from their line plunges and end runs being a few short forward passes. Mississippi was unable to do anything thru the Illinois line and attempted few end runs. They threatened the Illinois goal line twice, both times as a result of forward pass attacks. Each time however, they failed to make a pass good on the fourth down and lost the ball. Emil "Heine" Schultz, and McIlwain, who wore thru the opposing tackles for five and ten yard gains, and Rube Clark, who got off well around the ends, gained most of the Illinois ground in the field half, while Schultz and Jenks continued the assault in the second half, although the substitute Illinois line failed to open such large holes for them. Two fifteen yard penalties for holding held the Illinois up temporarily in the first quarter, but after that McIlwain and Clark took the ball down for the opening touchdown in the first ten minutes of play. End runs by Clark were chiefly responsible for the second score, which he made from the 7-yard line at the start of the second period.

A 25-yard pass from Clark to Britton put the ball on Mississippi's 11-yard line later in the quarter and line plunges made first down on the one-yard line. Coutechie sneaking over for the third score.

Schultz, battered thru Mississippi at the opening of the third quarter carrying the ball 60 yards on a series of plunges for another touchdown. Captain Gene Barnett of the Southerners, the only man on their team who was able to get thru the Illinois line and Young, quarterback, who was on the sending end of their passes were the Aggie stars.

Illinois College Lost to Illinois Wesleyan

Continuing to play the same kind of fast, scrappy football which overcame Eureka college a week ago, the Illinois college team yesterday threw a scare into the strong Wesleyan team at Bloomington. The final score was 12 to 0 in favor of Wesleyan which is decidedly different from the estimates made by Wesleyan students and Bloomington people that Wesleyan would win by anywhere from 30 to 40 points.

Also, it will be remembered that Bradley won from Illinois college 27 to 0 and that a week later Wesleyan defeated Bradley 14 to 7.

Before the big Homecoming crowd Illinois gave Wesleyan a real game. It was a case of too much Zinsner for the Blue and White players. This man, playing his third year on the Wesleyan team was stopped without much difficulty by the Illinois boys a year ago when Wesleyan played here in Jacksonville. Yesterday it was different. His running around the Illinois ends and his returning of punts were mainly responsible for the scores made by Wesleyan.

The Illinois line proved to be a stone wall on defense. Wesleyan gains made thru the Illinois line were few and of small distance. Capt. Riess, Gard, Weber, Shafer and Hackett outplayed the Wesleyan linemen both on offense and defense. On offense they opened holes in the Wesleyan line thru which the Illinois backs, Rogers, Hopper, Beecher, and Bowman plunged for substantial gains.

However, the excellent work of the Illinois linemen and backs on offense was nullified by the brilliant performance of Capt. Zinsner of the Wesleyan team. Ground gained thru effort of the whole Illinois team was offset by the individual play of Zinsner who dodged, twisted, squirmed, sidestepped and wriggled along for yard after yard with half a dozen Illinois players making futile attempts to bring him down. On two or three runs he simply outran the Illinois players by sheer speed in sweeping around the ends.

Amid the din made by the trainload of Illinois rooters who accompanied the Blue and White team, Illinois kicked off to Wesleyan and promptly held the Bloomington boys for downs forcing them to punt. All thru the first quarter Illinois kept the Wesleyan team on the defensive with the ball well in Wesleyan territory. Shortly after the beginning of the second quarter Zinsner got loose around end on the first of his long runs, carrying the ball close to the Illinois goal line. Straight plunges and off tackle drives gained just enough yards to yield first downs until Zinsner smashed over for the first touchdown. On the try for goal Gard broke thru and spoiled the Wesleyan attempt. There was no further scoring and the half ended 6 to 0 in Wesleyan's favor.

In the third quarter Wesleyan made their second and final touchdown. Zinsner caught a punt on his own 30 yard line and reversing the field ran to the Illinois 20 yard line before he was caught. There Illinois braced and Wesleyan resorted to a pass from Zinsner to Gottschalk which the latter caught and sprinted 15 yards over the Illinois goal line. The try at goal was missed. Wesleyan 12; Illinois 0.

There was no further scoring. The ball changed hands often but neither team could gain consistently enough to threaten to score.

Thus, for the second time in the last 11 years, Illinois met defeat at the hands of Wesleyan.

SYRACUSE UPSET BY COLGATE

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 17. (A. P.)—Syracuse hopes of attaining eastern football honors went a glimmering today when Colgate displaying a complete reversal of form turned the tables on the Big Orange team and won, 16 to 7, in one of the most startling upsets of the season. Colgate scored a field goal in the first period and the touchdown in each of the second and third periods, while Syracuse was unable to score until the final period. Syracuse's goal line had not been crossed this season.

Fumbles at critical periods and the Maroon's recovery of every loose ball put the Orange astern right on the opening kick-off and Colgate jumped into an early lead when Welsh kicked a field goal.

The Maroons' two touchdowns were won by long forward passes.

ROUTT AND HAVANA PLAY NO-SCORE GAME

Both Teams Play Hard and Fast
—Clear Stars for Routt in Defensive Play

A 0 to 0 game was played yesterday at Havana between the team from Routt high and the Havana Community high school football team. The teams were pretty evenly matched in weight and skill. Both teams hit the enemy line hard and broke thru several times. Havana made several gains around the ends, but lacked the punch to put over a touchdown.

The feature of the game for Routt was the defensive playing of Cleary at center. The game was marred by frequent fumbles on each side. At one time, when Havana took advantage of a Routt fumble on the 40-yard line and started down the field for a touchdown, Cleary downed the runner on Routt's five-yard line, several yards around the ends, and threw him for a loss. ## PENN STATE WON FROM PENNSYLVANIA

Philadelphia, Nov. 17.—Pennsylvania State humbled the University of Pennsylvania on Franklin Field today before 55,000 persons, 21 to 0. Wilson, the great halfback from State College scored all three touchdowns. Shuster kicked the goals after the touchdowns.

The Nittany Lions plays a superior all-around game with the possible exception of punting. Their plays were run off with precision and they were never in serious trouble from the attacks of the Philadelphia team.

MICHIGAN WON FROM WISCONSIN IN HARD BATTLE

Wolverines Were Outplayed
in First Half But Came Back Strong

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 17.—Michigan retained its hold on the Western conference football title here today by defeating Wisconsin 6 to 3. The Badgers strove desperately to overcome the Wolverines and the game was fought fiercely thruout. Michigan's forward passing was the outstanding feature of the game. Michigan's winning score came early in the second period when Rockwell was taken for down by the Wisconsin team and got up and ran fifty yards behind the Wisconsin goal line. Referee Eckersall held the ball was not dead and gave the Wolverines their only counter. Steger failed to kick goal. Wisconsin scored a place kick from Captain Below's toe early in the first period.

The Badgers played the Wolverines to a standstill during the first half, holding the edge of first downs. In the second half, Michigan opened up on forward passes for several long gains. They carried the ball within striking distance on three different occasions but the Badgers tightened and Taft punted out of danger.

Michigan's defense was weakened considerably when Blott was taken from the game in the second period. Brown took his place.

Rockwell was the outstanding star for Michigan, making more than twenty yards three different times. Taft showed up best for the Badgers with his long punts and runs. Just as the game ended Taft tossed a long pass for fifty yards to Harrison Michigan's 20-yard line. The crowd of Wisconsin followers surrounded Referee Eckersall when the game was over and entered a strong protest against the decision which gave Michigan the winning score. Badger players, however, escorted the official from the field.

A crowd of 25,000 fans saw the game.

KANSAS U. RECORD STILL UNMARRED

LAWRENCE, Kansas, Nov. 17.—Drake dropped behind in the Missouri Valley conference race here today by losing to the University of Kansas, nothing to seventeen. Relying chiefly on straight football the Jayhawkers turned back the brilliant aerial attack of the Bulldogs.

In the last ten minutes of play, Drake had the ball on the Kansas 1-yard line but the Kansans, held taking it on downs.

Kansas emerged with a record still unmarred this year by defeat. It was Drake's first conference loss.

Captain Black scored first for Kansas in the opening period when he ran 18 yards for a touchdown and kicked the added point for goal. In the third quarter, Burt place-kicked three additional points from the 31-yard line.

MURRAYVILLE WINS BASKETBALL GAMES

Murrayville High school defeated Hillview High school in a basketball game last night on the former's home floor by a score of 24 to 11. The game was fast and clean, and full of interest from start to finish.

A curtain raiser was played by featherweight teams from Murrayville and Manchester grade schools. The local lads won by a score of 10 to 6.

BADGERS WILL NOT PROTEST DECISION

MADISON, Wis., Nov. 17.—Walter Eckersall, Chicago referee in the Wisconsin-Michigan football game here this afternoon left Madison shortly after the game by automobile following bitter protests by Wisconsin followers against the ruling which resulted in Michigan's winning score it was stated authoritatively tonight.

Immediately following the game a large crowd of Badger supporters surrounded Eckersall. Members of the Wisconsin team then escorted the referee to the dressing rooms. Witnesses of the affair stated that Eckersall was struck by one of the crowd. Feeling among Wisconsin students is high as the result of the outcome of the game.

The dispute in the decision of the referee was when Rockwell, Michigan back got up after being tackled by Wisconsin players and ran 50 yards for a touchdown. It is not planned to protest the game to conference officials, Wisconsin officials said tonight.

WEST HIGH OF AURORA WON CHAMPIONSHIP

AURORA, Ill., Nov. 17.—By winning from Dekalb High today, 6 to 0 at Dekalb, West High of Aurora won the championship of the Northern Illinois conference, "The Big Seven" for the consecutive year. West High is the only team that has ever won the "Big Seven" championship in consecutive seasons. Last year after winning the "Big Seven" title, West High went to Findlay, Ohio, and defeated Findlay 20 to 6 in a post-season intersectional game.

Teams in the "Big Seven" are: Rockford, Joliet, Freeport, West High Aurora, Elgin, East High Aurora and Dekalb.

West High plays East High at Aurora Thanksgiving Day in its final home game of the season. Both this year's and last year's championship eleven were coached by Ralph Fletcher a few years ago a star on a championship University of Illinois eleven.

FOOTBALL CLASSIC

It is to be regretted that Michigan and Illinois do not play this year. These two eleven are the class of the Western Conference. A meeting between them would decide the Big Ten title and would attract a crowd that would fill the biggest stadium in the country.

At My Age—62

My Youth Cream keeps this baby skin

By Edna Wallace Hopper

Thousands upon thousands of women have asked me to tell what cold cream I employ. They see me with a girl's complexion at the age of 62. It is even softer, even rosier than 40 years ago. Yet my life has been lived in the limelight. And I served France five years in the rigors of the war.

A French Creation
French experts perfected this cream for me many years ago. It contains both lemon and strawberry. Also all the best that science knows to soften, whiten, smooth and feed the skin.

Neither I nor my friends have ever found a cream to compare with this. The expert makers tell me it is the greatest cream produced. So I have arranged to have them make the identical cream for you. It is called Edna Wallace Hopper's Youth Cream. All druggists and toilet counters now supply it at 50c per jar.

They also supply my Facial Youth—my famous liquid cleanser. Also my White Youth Clay—the last word in facial clay. Also my Hair Youth, to which I owe my heavy, lustrous hair. My Beauty Book comes with each.

Go try my Youth Cream. Learn how it excels all others. Then I think you will want all the beauty helps which have done so much for me. Edna Wallace Hopper. Business address, Waukesha, Wis. (adv.)

STATE SPELLING MATCH TO BE HELD

Every County Will Have at Least One Contestant at Teacher's Convention in December—Many Prizes Offered.

Springfield, Ill.—Every common school pupil in Illinois will be given a chance to participate in the annual state spelling contest to be held here December 26, the opening day of the Illinois State Teacher's convention. Every county in the state will send one representative its champion speller, to the state contest.

All pupils in the first eight grades, regularly attending the public schools during the school year of 1923-1924, are eligible to enter the contest, eight grade graduates being excluded. Details of the county contests are in charge of the county superintendents of schools.

Beginning with a spelling match in each school the winners of these "spell-downs" will be eligible for the township contests. The township winners will participate in the county contest, the winner of the latter being the county's representative to the state match.

custom in the past years, will be a written one. Words used are taken from the adopted spelling books. "No requirements will be made for analysis, definition, diacritical marking, or use of words in sentences," according to Roy L. Moore, high school supervisor of the state department of public instruction, who is chairman of the committee in charge of the state contest.

"Competent and disinterested persons," Mr. Moore said, "will be chosen by the committee to select and pronounce words for the contest. In case of disagreement as to the spelling of any word the final authority will be Webster's International Dictionary. No communication will be permitted during the pronunciation of any list of words. Contestants will not be allowed to leave their places during any part of the contest."

Gold, silver, and bronze medals will be awarded to the winners of first, second and third prizes, respectively. Every entrant in the state contest will receive a souvenir pin. Each contestant Mr. Moore said, will bring to the state contest a gold medal, awarded as a county prize. In addition to the medals each school whose contestant wins first, second or third prize of the state contest will be awarded a school room banner varying in size according to the place of the winner.

Each county superintendent entering a contestant will pay an entrance fee of $2.00 to cover cost of prizes.

The committee in charge of the contest, headed by Mr. Moore, is as follows: Edgar C. Pruitt, Springfield; Perry E. Hillyer, Lewistown; W. W. McCulloch, Pontiac; Frank P. Donner, Freeport; Harold Bright Marshall; and Sidney Parker, Mt. Vernon.

A plan, suggested for adoption this year, but which was abandoned, proposed state divisional contests. The winners of the divisional contests, including several counties, would, according to Mr. Moore, be the contestants in the state contests.

PREPARE FOR POSTMASTER'S MEETING

Jacob Hill, Postmaster at Decatur and H. L. Defenbaugh, assistant superintendent of mails in the Decatur post office were visitors at the office of Postmaster William A. Fay in Jacksonville yesterday. Mr. Hill is president of the Illinois Postmasters Association and is arranging a preliminary meeting for congressional district postmasters of the 1st, 2nd and 3rd class at which various questions relating to post-office interests may be discussed and those subjects being thought to be paramount will be used as the basis of the state meeting in this spring.

Mr. Hill's idea in the matter being that the questions most important will in that way be known and the state meeting made a much more valuable one to the membership. The spring meeting the past year was held in Springfield, and the location for the coming session will be announced later.

GOPHERS WILL NOT FORGET PALMER'S RUN

(By NEA Service)

Chicago.—One of the toughest "breaks" a football eleven has ever handed came to the University of Minnesota in its game with Northwestern last season. It was enough to take the heart out of the most courageous aggregation, for it deprived the Gophers of a victory that was justly earned.

The incident cropped out in the latter part of the tilt, which was played at Evanston, the Northwestern stronghold. At the time the Northmen were leading 7-0. They looked like almost certain victors. Practically all through the fray they had showed marked superiority over the Purple. It looked all over but the shouting.

With the battle fast drawing to a close, Minnesota, by some clever off-tackle plunges and end runs, carried the leather almost to the foe's goal line. Another touchdown seemed apparent. It would ice the fracas for certain.

But then came the "break." The ball was passed to a Gopher back to take over the final chalk mark. Over he plunged. But as he was tackled the leather dropped from his grasp. It bounded free, two yards behind the goal. Palmer, Purple star, was quick to take in the situation. Grabbing up the pigskin he set out for the Minnesota goal 102 yards away. Only Martin, Gopher safety-man, was between him and the coveted line. But a bunch of Purple huskies, acting as interference, put him out of the play. And Palmer cantered unmolested for the touchdown. Goal was kicked, knotting the score at 7-7, where it remained.

Thus, was an almost certain Minnesota victory turned into a tie game. A fumble, a "break," had enabled Northwestern to earn a draw with an outfit which was at least two touchdowns better.

FELSCHE THE GREATEST

Kid Gleason says that Happy Felsche was the greatest outfielder he ever saw. Felsche could do everything, is the way Gleason summed up the ability of the former White Sox star. In saying Felsche was the greatest fielder he ever saw, Gleason says he has taken into consideration such stars as Roush, Speaker and others.

SPENDS FOUR YEARS HUNTING SWINDLERS

Texas Ranchman Fleece Out of $45,000 in Stock Transaction and Goes on Warpath—Finally Gets Last One

FORT WORTH, Texas, (A. P.)—Texas' most famous man hunter, J. Frank Norfleet, is back on his Hale county ranch, satisfied with his years of criminal trailing. He set forth four years ago with the world as his field to get four men. Not one did he miss. They are either dead or in custody.

They had "lifted" $45,000 from him, so he claimed, and they were going to be punished. One by one they succumbed to his relentless pursuit. The fourth has just been arrested in Salt Lake City, and that explains why Norfleet has retired to his ranch, contented and happy at last.

It was while Fort Worth and Dallas—in fact all of West Texas—were in the grip of the oil boom that a clever squad of stock swindlers appeared in these parts and proceeded to lay traps for the unwary. One of the first to happen along was J. Frank Norfleet, Hale county ranchman and deputy sheriff. He formed a hot lobby acquaintance with one of the swindlers. He was dazzled by stories of great gains made in stock speculation, and he speculated in a stock which yielded him several thousand dollars. He was persuaded to risk a little more and then a little more. Each time his wealth grew. So did his confidence in his new found friends. Eventually, he was persuaded to put up $45,000. Then everything blew up in the "stock" market and Norfleet's money and his "friends" disappeared.

The ranchman began his man hunt in 1919—or just as soon as he became convinced that he had been swindled. The net result was: Joe Furey, leader of the squad, died in prison at Huntsville, Texas, after having been convicted by a Tarrant county court. Norfleet himself arrested Furey two years after the commission of the crime and after chasing him 4,000 miles.

E. J. Ward killed himself in a Washington, D. C., jail after having been convicted of the Norfleet swindle and while he was awaiting trial in Washington on a similar charge.

Charlie Gerber is serving a term in the Texas state prison for swindling Norfleet.

W. B. Spencer is now under arrest in Salt Lake City, and wanted in Fort Worth for the Norfleet swindle.

Norfleet followed Furey thru the United States, Canada, Mexico and into Europe. Finally, he overtook him at Jacksonville, Fla., and overcame him only after a struggle and fight.

The pursuit of Spencer continued four years. In one phase of it, Norfleet unearthed another gang of swindlers in Denver, a number of whom were sent to prison after sensational trials.

Norfleet was assisted in the long chase by his son. When they would lose the trail, they would return to the ranch for rest and recuperation. Then, striking another covey, they would start out into the world again. Norfleet cannot estimate the amount of money he has spent in the pursuit but feels that he has been well repaid with results.

NO CREDITS GRANTED TO WORLD WAR VETS

Time Spent In Service Cannot Replace High School Course As Laid Down For Law Students.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., (A. P.)—Military service in the World War cannot be taken as a qualification for admittance to the bar, in place of a high school education, Charles L. Bartlett of Quincy, secretary of the Illinois Board of Law Examiners, has announced.

"The way is always open for an applicant to qualify himself and take the examinations if he desires to do so," Mr. Bartlett ruled in the case of Harrison Bruce, of Springfield, who desired to take the bar examinations but lacked an equivalent of a four year high school course as required by the board. Bruce stated that "services in behalf of my country" prevented his finishing high school.

"Those who do not have a high school diploma have the privilege of making up their credits in whole or in part by special examination," Mr. Bartlett advised. "These examinations are conducted under the auspices of the University of Illinois and a prospective applicant may take such examinations until he has acquired sufficient credits to be entitled to matriculation in the university."

This matriculation certificate is accepted as proof of a preliminary education.

When informed that Bruce held a license to practice law in Tennessee, Mr. Bartlett said that "attorneys from foreign states are admitted to the bar of Illinois where the requirements for their admission in such states are equivalent to those of this state, or in case the requirements there are inferior, after proof of five years' practice under that foreign license."

Additional requirements, however, have been set down by the Supreme court when it adopted Rule 39 requiring two years of college work as pre-law education. Previous to this new rule only a four year high school course has been required as pre-law training.

"I do not assume to speak for the Board of Law Examiners, but assume that the board will in all such cases apply the rules concerning admission to the bar," said Mr. Bartlett. "Military service could not be considered as a qualification for a law license any more than one would be entitled to practice medicine therefor."

NEW LICENSE LAW FOR ALL MOTORS

Auto License Law as Amended by 53rd General Assembly to Govern for 1924.

Springfield, Ill., Nov.—(A.P.)—Trucks, tractors, and trailers will be licensed for 1924 under the new automobile license law as amended by the 53rd General Assembly, Secretary of State Louis L. Emerson announced in mailing out applications for all motor vehicle licenses for the coming year.

The maximum license fee for trucks is raised to $150; commercial tractor license fees will be required to bear license plates the fees for which will be determined, as with trucks, according to gross weight and carrying capacity. Passenger cars will be licensed the same as in 1923. Heretofore, commercial tractors have been charged a regular fee of $25.

The schedule of fees for truck licenses for 1924 is as follows: $12 for 5,000 pounds and less including weight of vehicle and maximum load; $75 for 16,000 and more, than 12,000 pounds; $100 for 20,000 pounds and more than 16,000 pounds, and $150 for more than 20,000 pounds. Last year the maximum truck fee was $60.

"The action of the legislature in increasing truck loads which travel over the highways, resulting of course, in an unusually heavy maintaining expenditure." Every trailer will be required to have to pay for a motor vehicle license, to be determined by the following rate schedule; 2,000 pounds and less including weight of trailer and maximum load $6.00; 10,000 pounds and more than 2,000 pounds, including weight of trailer and maximum load, $50. Pleasure car trailers will be taxed similarly.

Tractors will be classed as motor trucks, whenever used for commercial use, on the public roads. Agricultural tractors will not be taxed, Mr. Emerson said.

Regarding the weight allowed on road surface in Illinois the law, the secretary said, is as follows:

"The maximum gross weight to be permitted on the road surface through any two wheels on the same axle of any vehicle shall not exceed 16,000 pounds, nor shall it exceed eight hundred pounds per inch of width of tire upon such wheels. Provided, further, that the gross weight including the weight of the vehicle and maximum load of any self-propelled vehicle shall not exceed 24,000 pounds; and the gross weight including the weight of the vehicle and maximum load, of any trailer or semi-trailer vehicle pulled or towed by a motor vehicle shall not exceed thirty-two thousand pounds."

Maximum Weights

Illinois municipalities of more than 20,000 population have enacted laws providing for a maximum weight on their streets, which in most cases is much higher than the maximum load allowed on state roads. The law, however, limits this power of legislation, as follows:

"Weight limits 50 percent above those provided for herein may be permitted by ordinance in cities having a population of more than 20,000 but each increase shall not apply to vehicles when outside the limits of such a city."

While applications for 1924 license plates have already been mailed out, the plates will not be mailed until the last week in December, Mr. Emerson said.

"This is done to prevent many new motorists trying to 'slide' through the end of the year on 1924 licenses, instead, in cases where an automobile is purchased the last of the year, of applying for a 1923 license," he said.

The 1924 license plates will have a black background with bright yellow figures.

Passenger car license fees will remain the same as last year being based on the following schedule:

Gasoline or steam cars, 25 H. P. or less $8; 35 H. P. and more than 25, $12; 50 H. P. and more than 35, $20; more than 50 H. P. $24. Electric automobiles will be taxed $12.

ILLINOIS CORN CROP ABOVE THE AVERAGE

Old Corn Held in Stock Lowest in Years in All Sections of State.

SPRINGFIELD—(A. P.)—Illinois' corn yield per acre is well above the average and reserves of old corn on farms are the lowest in years in practically all sections of the state, according to A. J. Surritt, agricultural statistician in his monthly federal crop report for October. However, Mr. Surritt said, the merchants' portion of the crop is less than usual. Returns indicate a yield of silage above the average, he continued.

"The average yield of corn on Illinois farms this season is 37.5 bushels per acre upon 8,995,000 acres, giving the state a total production of 337,313,000 bushels. This is about 26,000,000 bushels more than the 1922 crop of 313,744,000 bushels and compares with 338,239,000 bushels, the average for the past five years. The 1922 yield was 35 bushels and the ten year average yield per acre for the state is 33 1/2 bushels. A full or normal yield of corn for Illinois would be about 44.3 bushels per acre.

Contributing Factors.

"Excessive rains or cool weather retarded the maturity and dried out corn quite extensively. Frosts in September, especially in the northeastern third of the state, as well as storms blowing corn down badly in scattered localities, contributed towards lowering the yield and quality to a marked extent from the earlier favorable state crop outlook. Probably the best yield and quality of corn will be found in the west central portion of the state. Owing to the high merchantable portion of the 1922 crop, heavy farm feed requirements and attractive market prices this fall, farm reserves of corn are the lowest since 1917. Farm reserves of old corn in the state are reported to be two per cent, compared with 5.2 per cent last year, and the average of 4 1/2 per cent.
